To Marauders, Apogee 1969 is a panorama of the most dynamic year in the history of Mitchell High School. Not until this year have the students realized their true potential to strive toward higher goals in academics, to exert their prowess on the athletic field, and to erupt with pride and enthusiasm when the band plays "Mitchell Rouser." This detonation of spirit is "Explo 69."

"Explo" is everywhere at M.H.S. It encompasses all phases of school life, from the expansion of an idea in a conference room in the English resource center to a jubilant sign of victory from Mitch Marauder. It is also present in the energetic activity of workmen as they rush to complete the new seminar rooms and lecture halls and in the ebullient cheers of Sophomores at Orientation.

Janette, haven't seen much of ya this year, but what I have seen is great! ☺ You're still as sweet as I remember, stay that way. Have a great summer!

Larry Tyler

Janette - Have a really good summer

The jovial humor of a "Scare the Terrors" day . . . the ulcerating suspense as a Mitchell quarterback bursts through an opponent's defense and races unscathed into the end zone . . . and the volcanic flurry of paper confetti as the scoreboard clock comes to a standstill and another foe is successfully defeated — all of these combine to project a new image, the image of a new generation of Marauders.

Jeanette, stay as sweet and don't ever try any energy. Keep your spirit high. Luck, Laughter Smiles

Mitchell Adapts to Needs of Modular Scheduling

To meet the more specific needs of modular scheduling and an increased enrollment, plans were drawn up by architect Lemar Kelsey and Mitchell's administration to remodel much of the academic wing and construct needed lecture halls and small group rooms. The building plans were submitted for the approval of the school board in September of the 1968 school year, so that the changes could be included as part of the school-bond issue. These changes and additions were begun in May and completed in November at a total cost of $260,000.

Remodeling plans for the school included 151 new lockers, enlargements of four of the five resource centers, the creation of an arts resource center, and the division of most of the conventional size class rooms into small-group size.

Most of the money alloted to Mitchell, however, was used to construct an addition to the north side of the building. This addition contains nine small-group rooms, two large-group lecture halls, and two small preparation areas for faculty use. This addition did much to relieve the crowded conditions prevalent throughout the school.

Members of the administrative staff are, seated, Dr. Calvin Frazier, deputy superintendent; Mr. Robert L. Davis, assistant superintendent, personnel services; Thomas B. Doherty, superintendent of schools: Mr. Harold H. Threlkeld, director of secondary education. Standing: Mr. Charles Day, assistant superintendent, administrative services; Mr. Alfred C. Erickson, assistant superintendent of business services.

School Board Expands New Educational System

Mr. Thomas B. Doherty, district superintendent, planned many new programs for the future of School District 11. These plans included the expansion of the curriculum and school facilities to meet the demands of educational responsibilities and a growing student body.

Because of the bond passed in 1967, nineteen projects were under construction during the year. Among these projects were the construction of a new elementary school, remodeling of three junior high schools, and the renovation of Palmer and Mitchell high schools.

Future plans included additional rating and remodeling of other schools throughout the district. Construction of a new senior high, junior high, and three elementary schools was planned.

New policies were introduced by the administrative staff enabling the teachers to improve the quality of teaching, instead of the quantity of time spent with the students.

During the 1968-69 school year the teachers were offered a chance to enrich their educational training while still teaching. An experimental program of team teaching was instituted to measure the achievement of the student when taught by several teachers using different methods.

Counseling Center Gains New Staff Members

Three new counselors joined the counseling staff in September. They were Miss Liz Morrison, Miss Ann Nelson, and Mr. James King. Second semester Mr. Richard McCormick replaced Mr. Arvel Ricketts when Mr. Ricketts took a sabbatical leave to pursue doctoral studies.

Again this year the counseling center's most important concern was the student's future. To aid the students, several sources of information were available on both vocations and higher education.

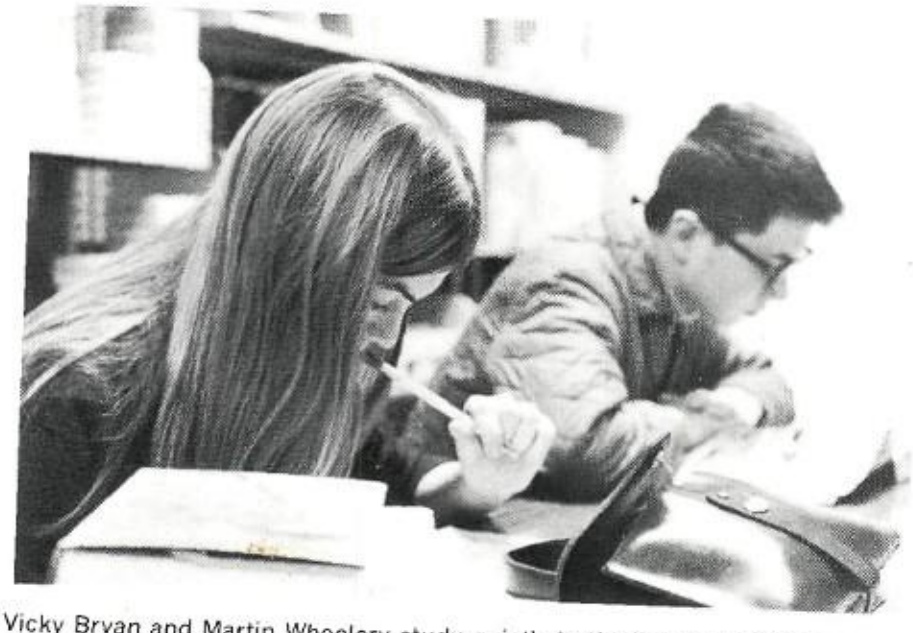
Catalogues, pamphlets, and film-strips were also in the center. These sources were available to give needed information on requirements, costs, and philosophy of the courses offered in individual colleges.

One of the most popular informational facilities in the center was the film-strip viewer. This device with accompanying recordings was used regularly by groups of students. Film features were individual colleges and vocations of all kinds.

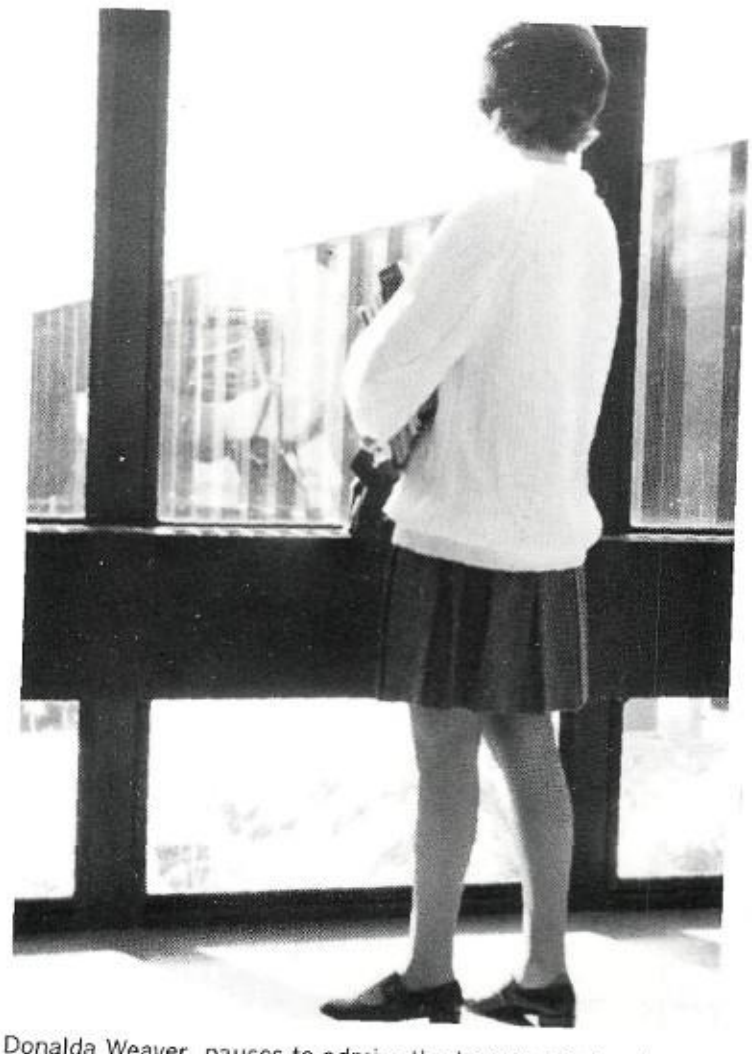
Linda Foster gets Mr. King's advice on solving her schedule conflict.

Mrs. Fern Wesbecher is busy getting first-semester report cards ready to send out to the students.

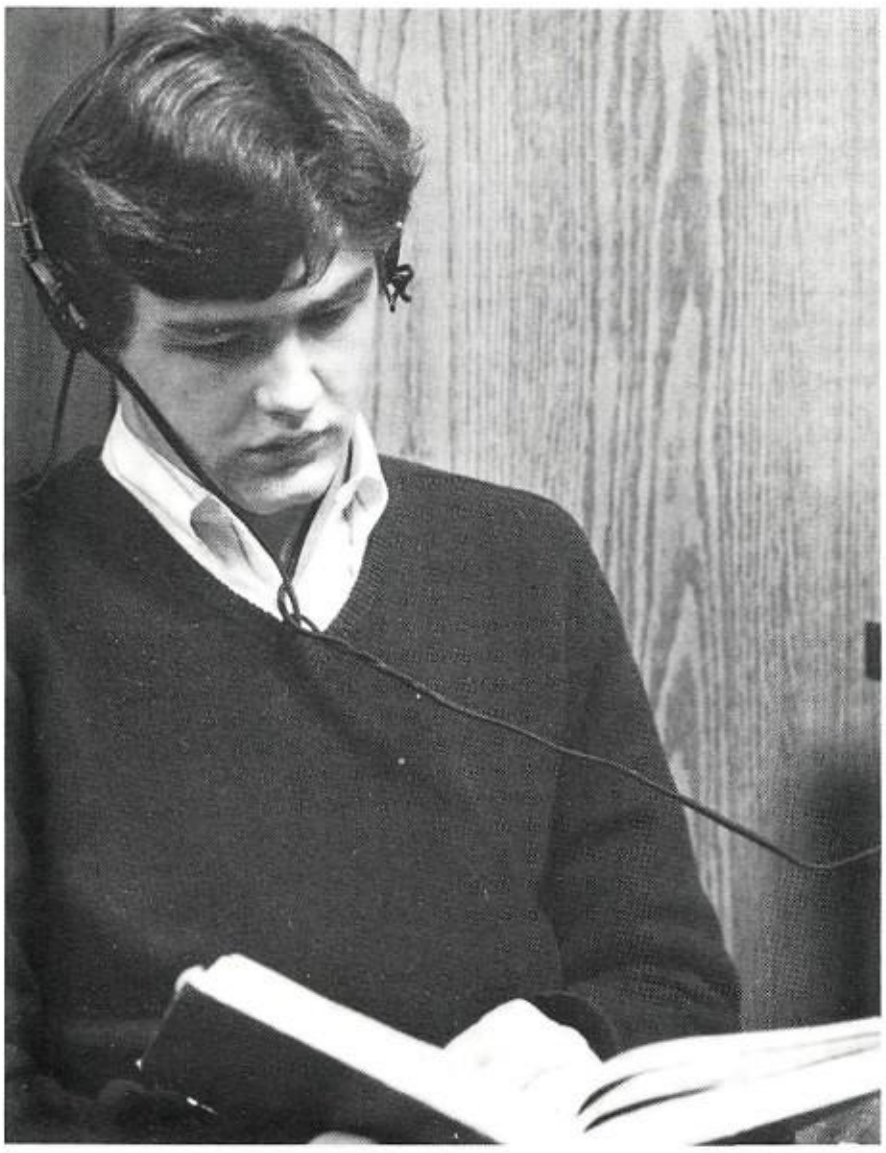
Mr. William Zapel conducts an American history large group lecture in room 10, one of the newly built lecture halls.



Vicky Bryan and Martin Whoolery study quietly in the library's reference area.



Donalda Weaver pauses to admire the beauty of a fresh snow



Ron Ringler listens to Joan Baez as he reads a psychology chapter.

Enlargements on four of the already existing resource centers and the creation of a new arts resource center helped relieve the crowded conditions and congestion of the previous year. The new resource center served students enrolled in industrial, practical, and fine arts courses.

Its purpose, like that of the other resource centers, was to act as a quiet study area where students could make up tests, work on homework and study.

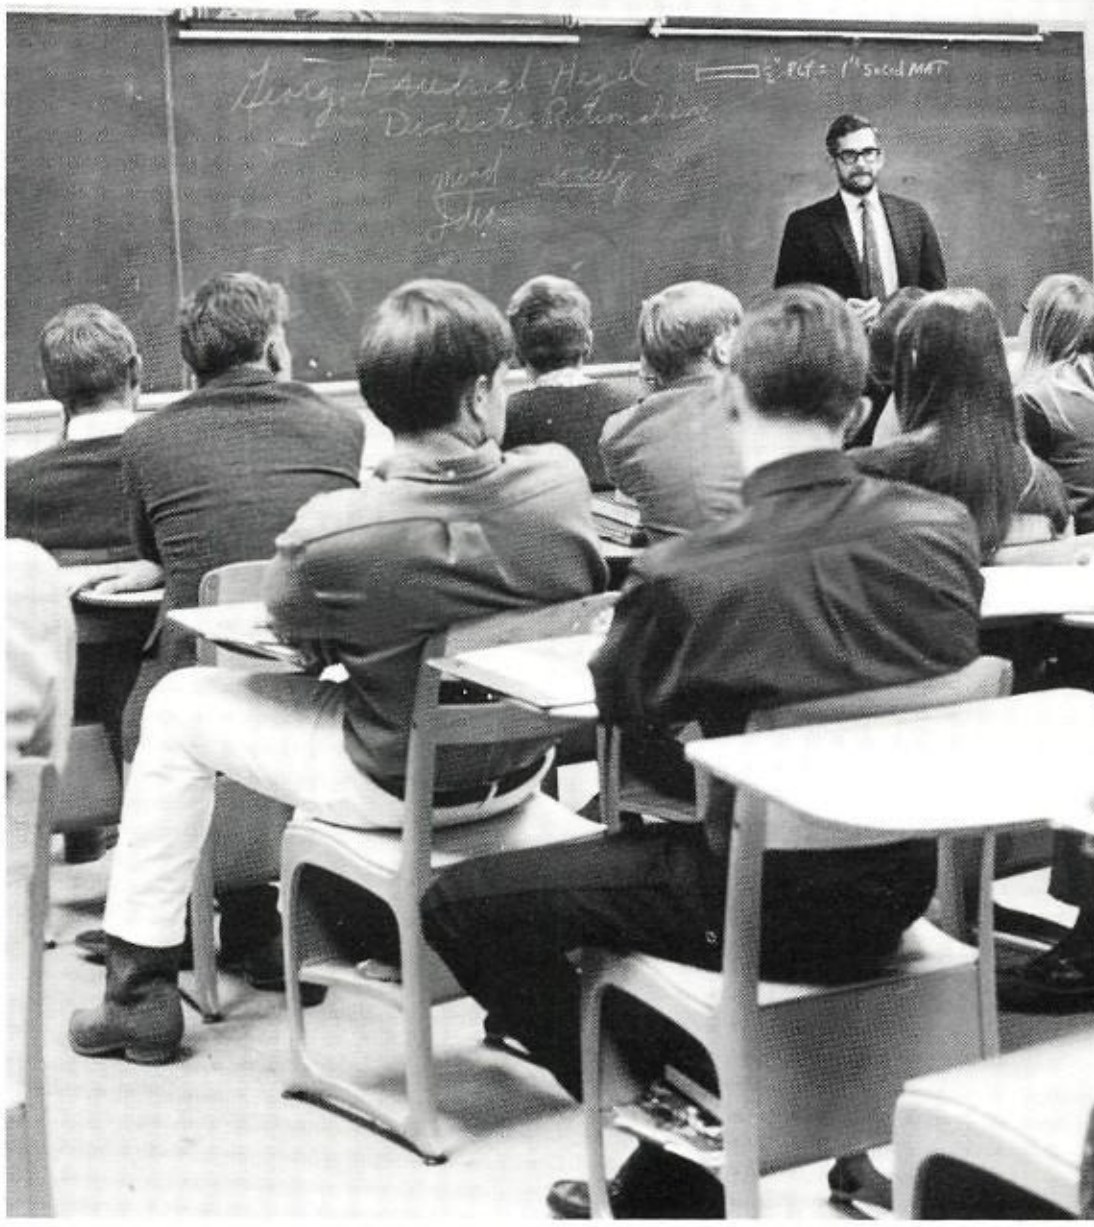
Available in the main resource center for the first time were records to suit everyone's tastes. Included were selections ranging from Alan Hovhaness' "Prelude and Quadruple Fugue" to Rogers and Hammerstein's "Oklahoma!" Most popular, however, were "Parsley, Sage, Rosemary and Thyme" by Simon and Garfunkle and "Help!" by the Beatles.

Mitchell Adds New Resource Center for the Arts

Temporarily oblivious to the snowy beauty outside, a small group American history class discusses their nation's past.

Doris Sestokas reads an article on medieval society for her world history class.

Lively discussions occur often in Mr. William Zapel's American government class.



Mr. Roger Douglas lectures to his large economics class on the German philosopher Hegel and dialectic rationalism.

Mitchell sophomores and juniors using study, research, and conference facilities fill the social science resource center.

World History Election Scrutiny Interests Students

For one week preceding the nationwide elections on November 5, Mitchell world history students delved into the mechanics of campaign and election procedures. Regular classes were suspended for the week, and students signed up for discussion groups in which lively debates over candidates and issues occurred.

Assemblies in which local candidates for United States representative and United States senator presented their views and allowed themselves to be questioned by the students were another vital aspect on election-week studies.

Independent study projects were also important to the world history curriculum. Each student planned, in conference with his history teacher, a project each quarter on almost any topic relating to history.

In order to enable students to become knowledgeable about a few topics of interest to them, projects were allowed broad application. Projects took form in comparison map studies, research papers, original plays and other creative writings, models and diagrams, slide presentations, and panels and symposiums.

Translating "Cicero's Orations" into English demands concentration from Mrs. Jeanne Bruner's advanced Latin students.

Advanced Language Courses' Enrollment Increases

Advanced language courses offered by Mitchell's foreign language department experienced a great increase in enrollment this year. Miss Marion Reid, head of the language department, attributed this increase to the growing interest in travel and the consequent desire to learn to speak a second language, a skill requiring more than two years of study.

The school's generally increased enrollment necessitated a change from last year's open language lab arrangement to a new scheduled construction in which students reserved a cubicle for a certain mod, then attended language lab at this same time throughout the year.

Continued experimentation with modular scheduling led to the initiation of large groups for the modern languages. These large groups used the new lecture halls where overhead presentations, travelogues, special speakers, and movies were often scheduled. New resource materials, mainly books and plays, were added to the facilities of the language resource center.

Language lab paraprofessional Mrs. Mildred Depew adjusts the lab's console.

English Department Presents Unique Courses

Mr. J. D. Barnes helps Vicki Bruce in the resource center.

Revisions made by faculty members of Mitchell's English department over the summer of 1968 resulted in the addition of three new small-group courses. The courses, multi-cultural literature, comparative classical literature, and semantics, have never before been offered in District No. 11 schools.

Large group composition labs continued to employ a mass media approach to the study of the humanities by presenting information through recordings, tapes, magazines, films, and books. Extensive use was made of the audio-visual center in applying the mass media technique.

More use was made of the reading laboratory this year to improve the reading skills of students in some English small groups. With this purpose in mind, the English department obtained new reading study series including "Tactics in Reading," "Listen and Read," and the SRA Pilot Library.

A new game called "Phonemia" was also added for the small-group English classes' use. The remodelled, newly carpeted reading laboratory was also the site of regularly scheduled reading improvement classes.

Description of a taste is Joe Gallo's goal as he savors a very sour lemon's flavor.

Math and Science Departments Offer Surveying

Through the combined efforts of the math and science departments, surveying was offered as part of the advanced science program. Mr. Carl Baughman, math department chairman, taught the unit in late spring, so that field trips could enrich classroom study.

In addition to surveying, five weeks were spent on each of the following units: evolution, biochemistry, astronomy, crystology, and paleontology. The purpose of the advanced science course was to provide apt science students with a variety of experience in science which they might not otherwise encounter.

During the second semester, a series of science seminars dealing with such topics as computers, artificial intelligence and the quantum theory were offered to Mitchell students. The seminars were conducted by Dr. Blade, professor of physics at the Colorado University extension, and were open to C group students. The course was conducted on a pass-fail basis with minimal testing.

Mark Summers examines a coil spring used in physics experiments.

Home Economics Offers Enrichment Program

Mrs. Marjorie Aurand, Mrs. Betty Meyering and Mrs. Carol Magruder of the home economics department, planned many events for the new home economics enrichment program. Lectures and demonstrations were given by guest speakers.

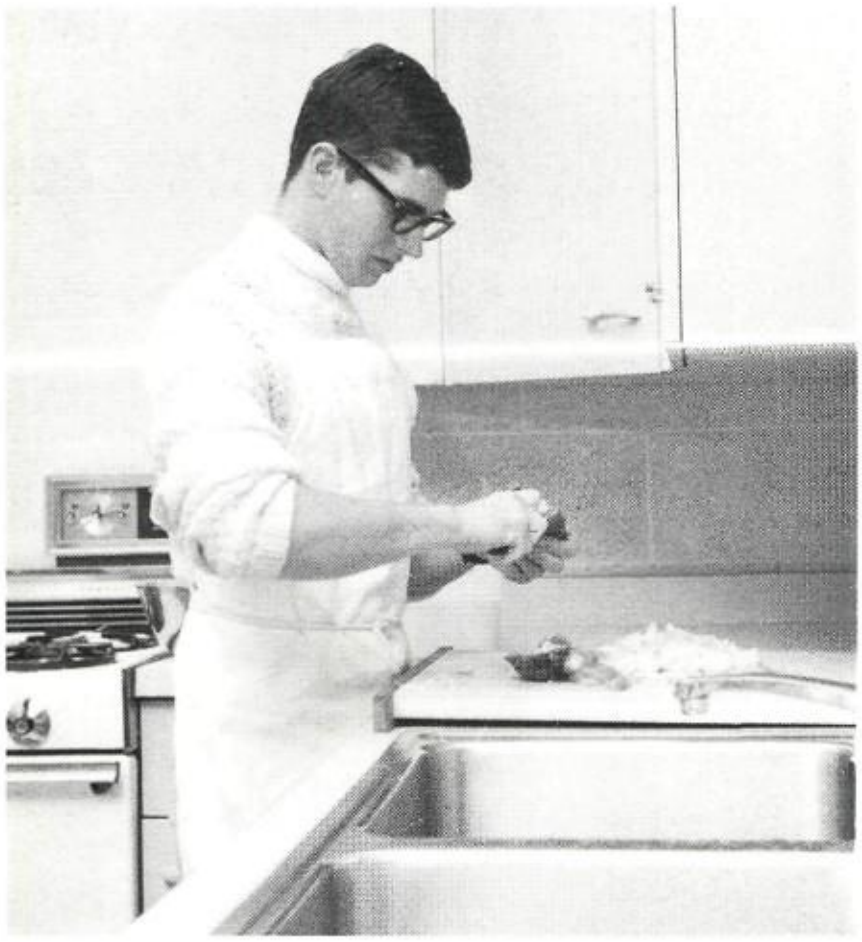
Mrs. Jeanne Stark directed a student Simplicity Style Show, in which twenty girls were instructed in posture and carriage. Miss Winifred Bogie, head dietician of the Deaf and Blind School, compared nutrition in India to that of the United States. Mrs. Coply from Southgate Fabrics lectured on the "Undercover Story of Fabrics." Slides of Colorado Springs were shown by Mrs. Reese.

Because of the increasing enrollment in home economics classes, Mrs. Carol Magruder, who taught Clothing II and Foods II, was added to the staff.

During the Christmas months the home economics and home living classes were busy making decorations for open house, to which the faculty was invited, during the week of December 16. The foods classes made cookies, popcorn balls, and many other delicacies. The table setting was Victorian in style with a round tablecloth and fringe.

Leslie Shacklette gives Connie Campbell advice on the fitting of her robe.

In boys' cooking class Bob Ham prepares a dish for a chicken fiesta.



Debbie Talbott very efficiently pins her pattern onto her material.

Home living classes are honored to have Mrs. Adams as a speaker.

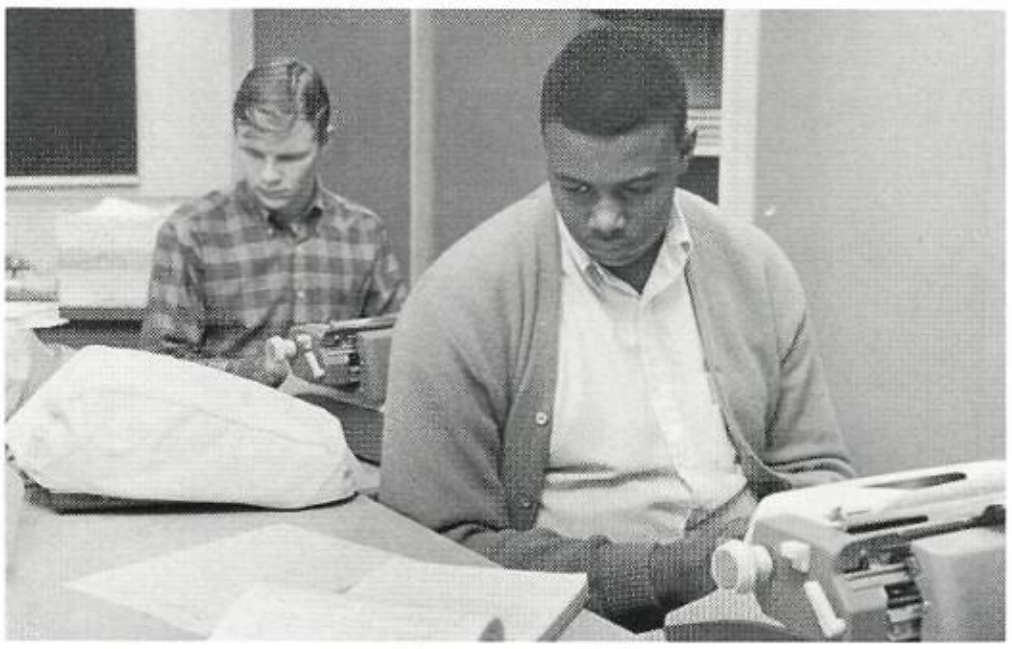
Mrs. Carol Magruder watches Carla Sills prepare to cut her dress out.

Business Department Alters Course Structures

To cope with the increased enrollment of the school and to more effectively utilize modular scheduling, the Mitchell business department changed the structuring of courses to decrease the amount of time spent in formal classes. This arrangement placed greater responsibility on the individual student, while at the same time it allowed him to work at his own pace.

Instruction by contract was another method used by the business department to encourage individual progress. The student, in conference with a teacher, plotted a unique course of study beneficial to himself and geared to his own level of progress.

Another new program entered into by contract between the student and the teacher gave exceptional students or those with a particular interest an opportunity for learning through individual research projects. These students were expected to keep up with the regular class work, and, in addition, they prepared on their own time papers and reports on subjects of special interest.



Sam Froggatte and Wallace Sticklamb gain speed and accuracy doing typing exercises.

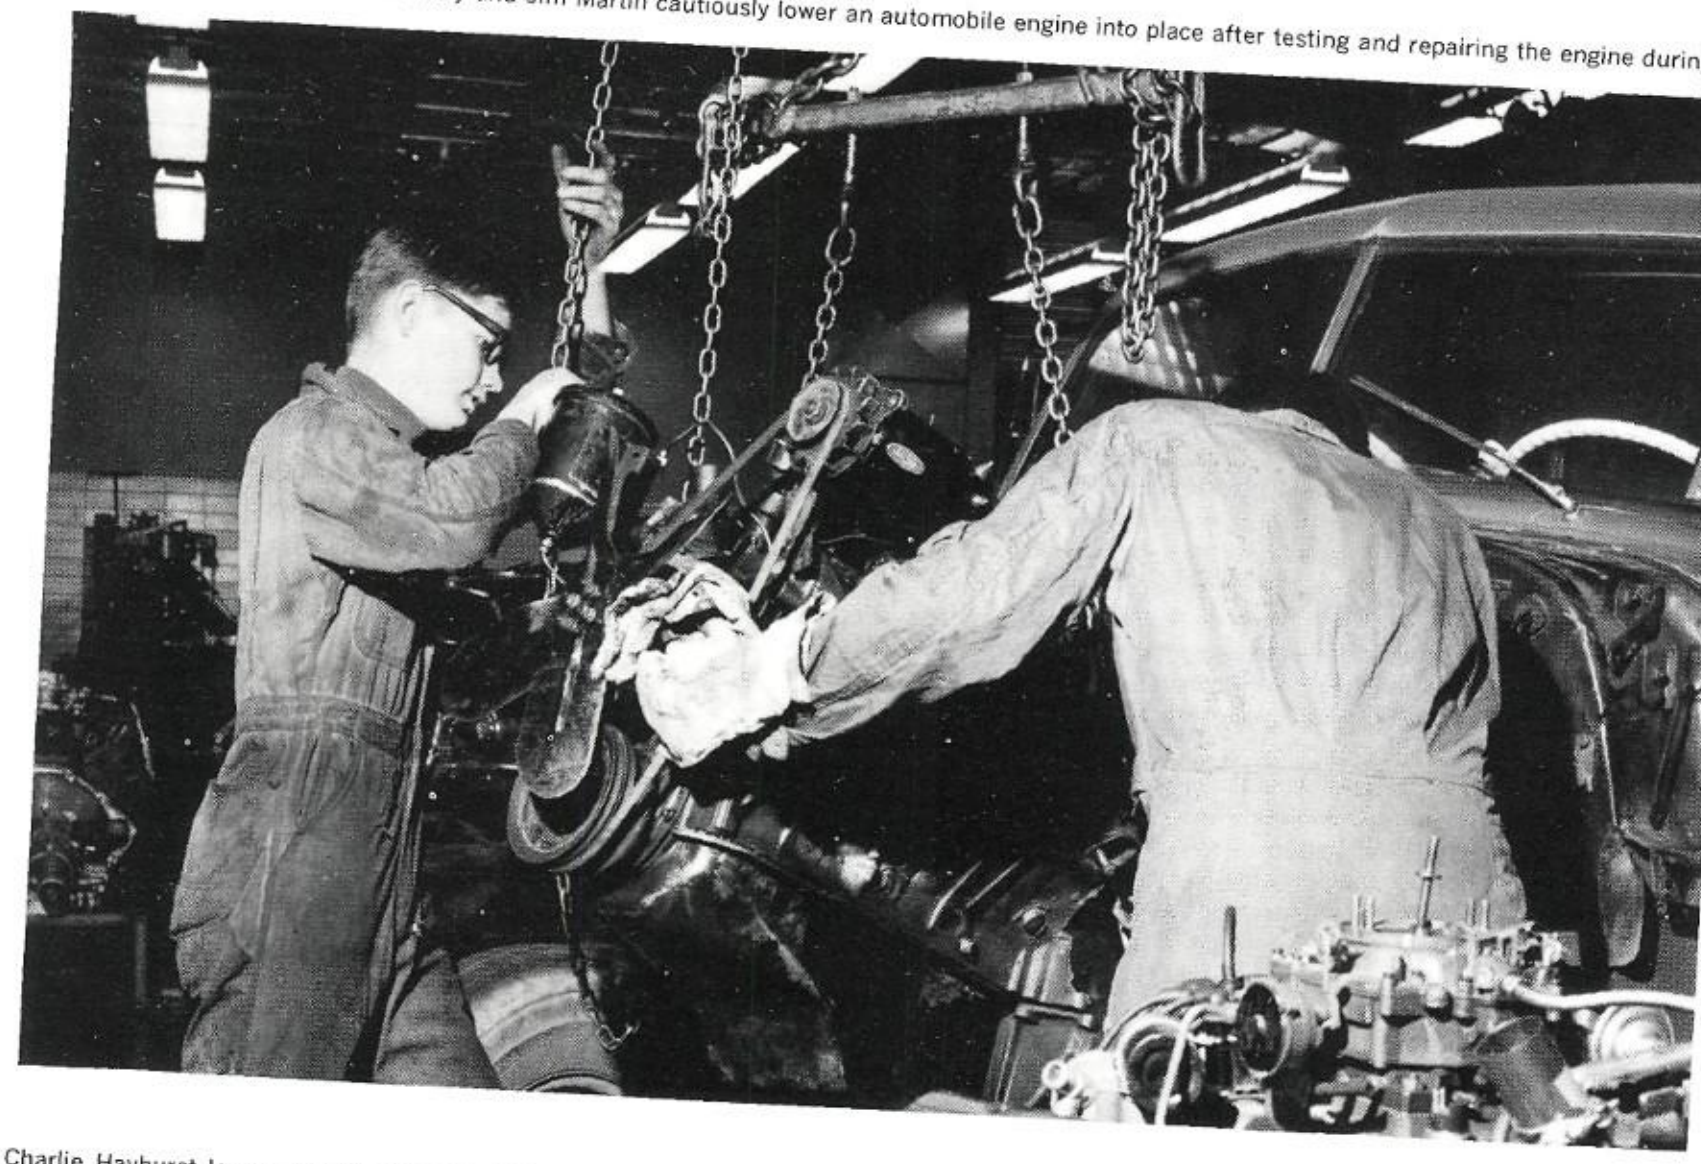
Researching her individual project, Debbie Schneider finds new information in the business resource center facilities.

Anticipating college demands, Mitchell students master useful notetaking techniques in business education department's notehand class.

Loretta Collins practices operating a new kind of adding machine during unscheduled mods.

In distributive education class, Kyle Peterson helps Kenna Stull record purchases on the cash register.

Auto shop students Duane Holiday and Jim Martin cautiously lower an automobile engine into place after testing and repairing the engine during lab.



Charlie Hayhurst learns graphic arts principles by printing calling cards.

Concentrating intensely, Linda Sestokas draws a precise line for a drafting assignment.

Industrial Arts Offers Diversified Occupations

Courses tailored for the individual were emphasized this year in the industrial arts department. The addition of a course in diversified occupations allowed students to obtain training in vocations not taught at Mitchell.

Classroom instruction on job interviews and personal job relations preceded the placement of students into apprenticeship situations. Students worked as telephone operators, bakers, veterinary assistants, or workers in sheet metal.

Another innovation which emphasized the concept of individual instruction was the experimental use of Learning Activity Packages with sophomores enrolled in woodworking, graphic arts, and auto. An instruction pamphlet covering one unit of information and assignments was given to each student.

Upon completion of the pamphlet, the students were tested in the arts resource center. If the student did not pass the test, he was given another pamphlet over the same unit in which the subject matter was approached differently.

Larry Back smooths the side of his fiberglass Model A to perfection.

Mitchell No Longer Requires Sophomore Swim

For the first time in Mitchell's history, sophomore students were not required to take swim because of the large number of students enrolled in the swim classes.

Mrs. Charleen Colvin and Mr. Gary Cotton gave a swimming test to all the sophomores. If the students could swim one length of the front crawl and one length of the elementary back stroke, they were not required to take the swim course. Those students that did not pass the exam were scheduled into a swim class during their unstructured modules, until they could pass the given requirements.

In the sophomore and junior gym classes the girls participated in individual and team sports. Sophomore team sports included such activities as soccer, basketball, and volleyball. The juniors' individual sports included archery, gymnastics, and tennis.

In the boys' gym classes the sophomores participated in individual sports such as badmitton, handball, tennis and wrestling. Junior boys were kept active in team sports.

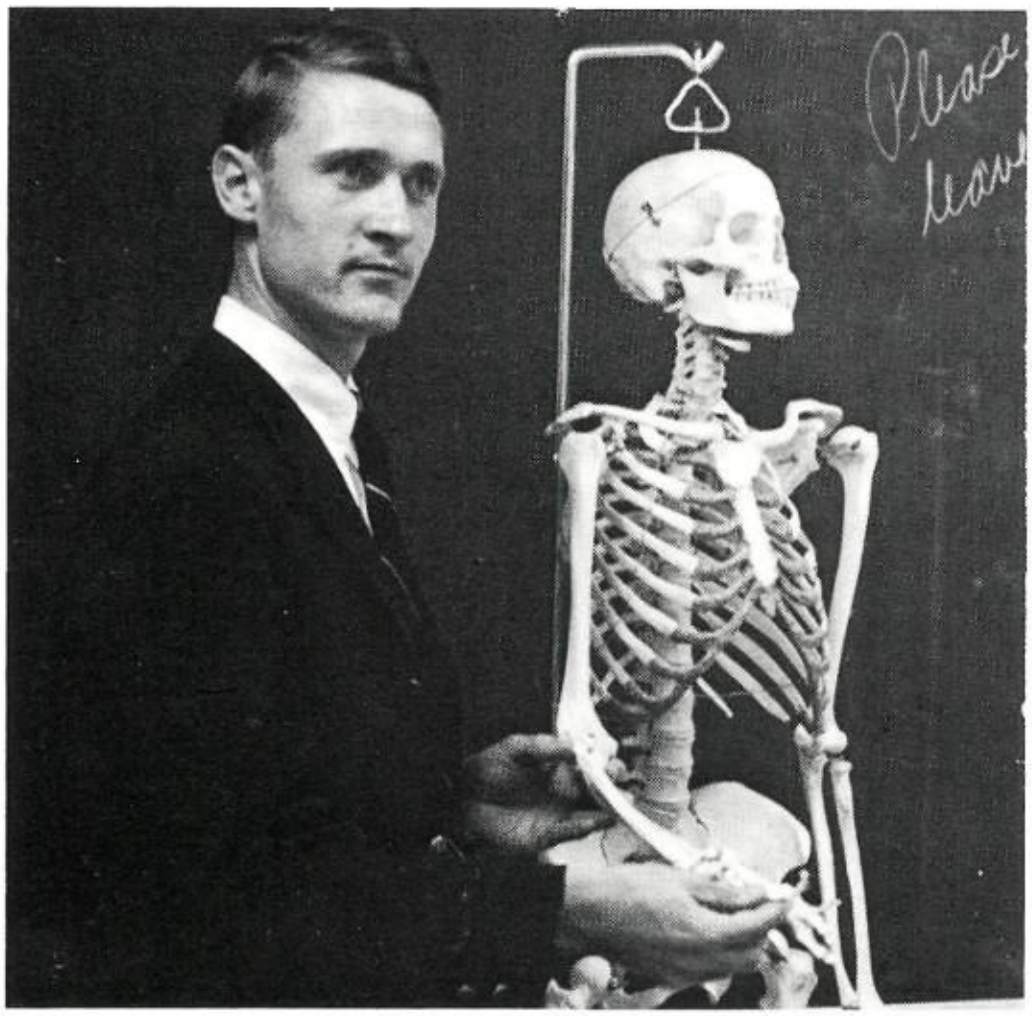
Cafeteria Undergoes Remodeling and Enlargement

On a warm day seniors take advantage of their privileges in the courtyard.

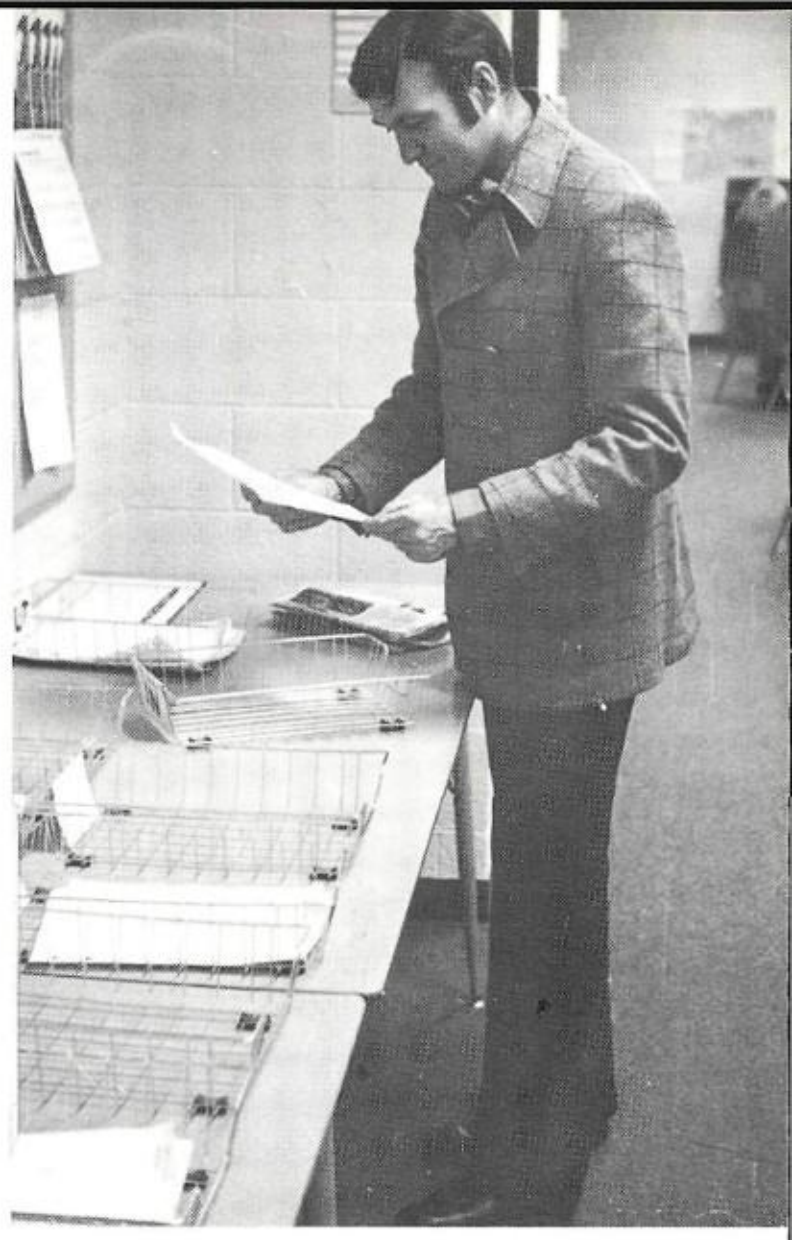
To meet ever increasing enrollment problems, the cafeteria was enlarged this year by removing the faculty lunch area. More tables were added, and because of increased use as a student union during those mods before and after lunch, two new para-professionals, Mrs. Ruth Lennon and Mr. Ralph Gillen were added to the staff to aid Mr. Howard Sabol, who has supervised the commons area for two years.

Because the cafeteria met the government's type A food standard requirements, determined by weight and size of portion, Mitchell received more government commodities this year, the most important being milk. Because of the government's reimbursement, the price of milk went down, even though the price of all other food purchased for use in the cafeteria increased.

Among the jobs performed by the custodial staff were parking lot supervision, increased cleaning duties after the completion of the new addition, and pool temperature control. Mr. Howard Newberry again headed the staff consisting of one matron and sixteen custodians.



Mr. Charles Borris describes the structure of the human bone to his physiology class.



Fashionable Mr. Donald Hood checks for incoming homework.

Janette,
I'm glad you came back to Mitchell this year. I've had the most fun in P.E.
You and Patti are the funniest
2 girls I know. You have a great personality and you'll go far if you stay your sweet self. Knowing you is a great experience. Hope to see ya again next year. Always remember the great time we had in P.E. Good Luck always with Dave. He's a great guy. Keep smilin' or no one will know it's you, since you have a distiguishing smile. Good Luck always.

Luff ya,
Sheri

Homecoming 1968 came early for the Marauders and began the year with a tremendous explosion. Mitchell's third Homecoming covered the week of September 25-28 and was built upon the theme, "A Tribute to a Man — Walt Disney."

Music created the Homecoming mood in Wednesday night's "Golden Horseshoe Revue." Volunteering for parts in the show, the cast began work in August under the direction of Miss Lynn Johnstone, Secretary of Assemblies Don McNeilley, and Vice President Patti Blair.

Following the chorus idea used in the Sing-Out movement, the show featured a variety of songs and characters from many Walt Disney movies. Linda Alldredge and Jerry Aluise emceed the acts which included such numbers as "Heigh Ho," "Fortuosity," and "Bare Necessities."

A Special appearance was made by Burl Ives, and the audience was surprised by the hilarious Tiny Tim. The 1968 Homecoming guest, Mr. Maurice G. Baker, was introduced to the student body after the performance.

Student body president, Jerry Aluise, brought the evening to a climax as he crowned the 1968 Homecoming Queen, Miss Beth Taylor. A reception for the Queen and Mr. Baker followed the entertainment, and the 1968 Homecoming week was on its way.

Portraying a sexy fairy godmother, Katie Estes whisks away the troubles of the world by singing "Bibbidy Bobbidy Boo."

Wishes came true as the Marauder football team battled the South Colts for Mitchell's first Homecoming victory. An 18-12 finish kept Marauder spirit sailing through the remaining Homecoming activities.

Mitchell's annual Homecoming award, given to a person outstanding in the state of Colorado for his contribution to its people, was presented to Mr. Maurice G. Baker, who has devoted much of his time to the citizens of Colorado Springs by serving as president of the Board of Education and by participating in many Colorado Springs civic activities. The Homecoming plaque was presented to Mr. Baker during half-time festivities at the game.

Homecoming floats, entered by Cabinet and each of the three classes, were judged at half-time. Cabinet's float won first place, but the juniors captured first for class competition. Disney characters, preceded by the Queen and her attendants, paraded around the field while the Mitchell band performed to the theme of "When You Wish Upon a Star."

Traditional events, the bonfire and bombhunt, were held on Thursday night. Spirit came alive as the fall sports teams, introduced by their respective captains, set the fire ablaze. Homecoming Queen, Miss Beth Taylor, addressed the crowd before they departed on the hectic search for the Mitchell bomb. Senior girls captured the bomb, and the enthusiasm of the night dominated the week.

Standing on the sidelines, Disney character Mickey Mouse, played by Connie Lynch, waits for the half-time performance.

Janette,

I've known who you were for a long time but I never actually known you since that day you helped us plan that party. It never did get off the ground but thanks for all the help anyway.

Next year I'll get to know you even better, I hope.

Seniors demonstrate their class spirit while they climb to victory.

"Mad Hatter's Tea Party" was the theme of Mitchell's Saturday morning activities which took place September 28 from 9:00 to 12:00 a.m. For those who could struggle out of bed early enough, coffee, fruit juices, milk, donuts, and other breakfast goodies were served.

Cabinet sponsored the class competition events which included a sticky egg toss, a balloon-blowing contest, messy pie-eating clashes, and a crushing pyramid-building contest. Other activities were a round of peanut butter and cracker eating, a tug of war, and a feminine version of a soccer game. The junior class collected the most points during the events and pulled ahead in class competition.

Saturday evening the Homecoming festivities came to an end with the traditional Homecoming dance. The Gallery provided the music for the dance and performed in a gazebo setting. Pictures of Walt Disney's fantasy characters were featured on the walls, and the halls were decorated with pink and blue crepe paper.

Cabinet's prize-winning float was placed at one end of the cafeteria and was used as the castle background for the presentation of the queen. The dance, based on the theme, "The Wonderful World of Color," was the final tribute to Walt Disney, and Homecoming 1968 came to a close.

Mitchabaloo and Hippie Heights Initiate School Year

Mitchell's 1968-69 school year began with "something old and something new," Mitchabaloo and Hippie Heights.

Mitchabaloo, traditionally the first dance of the year, was held the evening of September 7. Clothes were casual, spirits were high, and the sound was the Quorum.

"Something new" came in the way of Hippie Heights, a pompon and cheerleader-sponsored, girl-ask-boy dance. October 19th found a grubby, dirty, and perfectly content crowd of Marauders controlled by the hard-rock sound of the Fuzz.

Student Participation Boosts School Morale

Many spectators and proud Marauders create an atmosphere of enthusiasm, excitement, and school pride during this year's Homecoming.

Student participation and class competition started early this year with the arrival of Homecoming and the fight for the S.C.L. title in football.

Students became involved with the activities of Homecoming week. All three classes slaved on their floats, and the junior's "Adventure Land" won first place. Other Homecoming events supported by students were dressing as jovial Disney characters, attending the bonfire, searching for Mitchell's bomb, giving their support at the Homecoming game, and participating in the Saturday morning activities.

As the fight for the S.C.L. football title continued, Marauder spirit was clearly shown by the enthusiasm of the large crowds, which attended both the out-of-town and the home games.

Throughout the year the student body helped maintain school moral by participating in several pep assemblies and morale days. Such themes as "Sock the Birds" and "Boot the Miners" were used to give all athletic teams confidence for the upcoming games.

Sale of activity tickets, P.T.A. membership, and student attendance at all school plays and dances were stimulated by class competition.

Climaxing the student participation was the energetic role that all three classes and separate organizations took in the school carnival. Many clever ideas were conveyed by the different booths and decorations. The carnival proved to be one of the most successful events of the year.

Christmas of Blue Snow

Using the theme Christmas of the Blue Snow, Mitchell's first formal dance of the year, The Fourth Noel, contributed to the year's holiday joy and excitement. Providing the music for the dance was the Century Fox.

Hours of preparation resulted in a transformed cafeteria. The halls were decorated with candles and bells of blue petal paper, and blue and silver foosting streamed from the ceiling.

Sophomores contributed their wishing well, which represented their first place in the hall decorations contest. Attracting much attention was a hand-made driftwood tree that was adorned with silver and blue balls.

Enhancing the merriment was the crowning of the queen, Marcia Blakemore, by the evening's special guest, Santa Claus. Attendants to Miss Blakemore were Linda Alldredge, Julie Cox, Elaine Earnest, and Cindi Minor.

Cheerleaders Ignite Spirit with First Girl-Boy Squad

Perry Bean

Mitchell's varsity cheerleaders initiated many fresh ideas into their squad during the 1968-1969 school year. Students supporting try-outs last spring saw the election of six returning girls and the innovation of two boy cheerleaders.

At a cheerleading clinic in Logan, Utah, the eight seniors learned the straight-arm style of cheering as well as a variety of new cheers and nonsense chants. Throughout the school year the squad added several gymnastic stunts that required a minimum of two practices a week.

Sponsored by Mrs. Charleen Colvin and Mr. Charles Gaul, the cheerleaders attended all sports events and morale committee meetings and strove to improve school unity and spirit.

Members of the varsity squad were Marcia Blakemore, Julie Cox (head cheerleader), Elaine Earnest, Cindi Minor, Sue Rowley, Beth Taylor, Perry Bean, and Wayne Brown.

Building spirit and enthusiasm, Mitchell's 1968-69 pompon girls performed at the football games, basketball games, and all of the other sports events. "Mony Mony," "The Stripper," and "Casino Royale" were three of their outstanding routines.

According to the requirements set up for pompon clinic, the girls had to attend all clinics and to perform two routines. They were judged on enthusiasm and appearance by a panel consisting of faculty members and students.

Led by Linda Alldredge, the squad included JoAnne Tucker, Bobbi Martino, Liz Canfield, Nadine Johnson, Connie Lynch, Sue Newbill, Diane Wiley, and Colleen Therriault.

Interested students met at Mitchell to prepare for their first performance on January 28, 1969.

Sing Out Colorado Springs raised money for a south-western United States tour by making several public appearances. It was a combination of students from Wasson, Palmer, Harrison, Cheyenne Mountain, Widefield, and Mitchell High Schools and was under the direction of Mr. Charles Gaul, Miss Lynn Johnstone, Linda Alldredge, Marcia Blakemore, Larry Small, and Mike Wade.

During February the queen candidates were nominated by the boys of the school. On February 28 the girls were presented to the student body in an assembly entitled the Sweetheart Game.

Elections were held following the assembly, and the results were announced at the dance. The climax of the evening was the crowning of the Sweetheart Queen, Miss Sue Rowley. Her attendants were Liz Canfield, Susan Todd, YoYo Ortiz, Patti Peckham, and Diane Murphy.

Linda Alldredge

Linda Alldredge was a member of Mitchell's pompon squad as a junior and served as head pompon girl in her senior year. She participated in Sing Out, emceed the Homecoming show both her junior and senior years, and performed in seven plays: four as a sophomore, two as a junior, and one as a senior. She was selected to participate in several city and out-of-state exchanges, including a trip to Las Vegas in her junior year.

A member of Pep Club and of Speech Club for three years and of Drama Club for two years, Linda also served on the social and morale committees.

Linda is interested in drama, speech, and the mountains. She plans to major in speech therapy at Colorado State College.

Linda received superior ratings all three years in interpretation of poetry and drama and took second in state as a sophomore. As a result of her dedication and enthusiasm, Linda received the title of Marauder of the Month, went on to be chosen as one of the Outtanding Teenagers of America, and was selected as one of "Who's Who in American High Schools." Linda was also selected as one of the Christmas Queen attendants in her senior year and was chosen as a member of Prom Court.

Active Larry Small spread his interests over a wide range. He served on student council as a junior and senior and occupied the post of senior class vice president in the second semester. As a sophomore athlete he was a diver for the Mitchell swim team. For all of his high school years, Larry was also an active participant on the gymnastics teams.

Publicity and assemblies committees were helped by Larry, and he contributed to student morale by playing "Mitch Marauder" at football games and pep assemblies.

In his senior year Larry became a directing member of Sing-Out Colorado Springs. Because of his outstanding academic achievements, he was chosen to be in National Honor Society for two consecutive years.

Outside of his school life Larry was active in scouting and Junior Achievement. He also attended the Colorado Outward Bound School in the summer of 1968.

In return for his hard work Larry was nominated to Prom Court and "Who's Who in American High Schools." His future plans include attendance at Dartmouth or Reed College to study for the ministry. He would also like to join the Peace Corps.

Larry Small

Ten Seniors as Pacesetters

Julie Cox

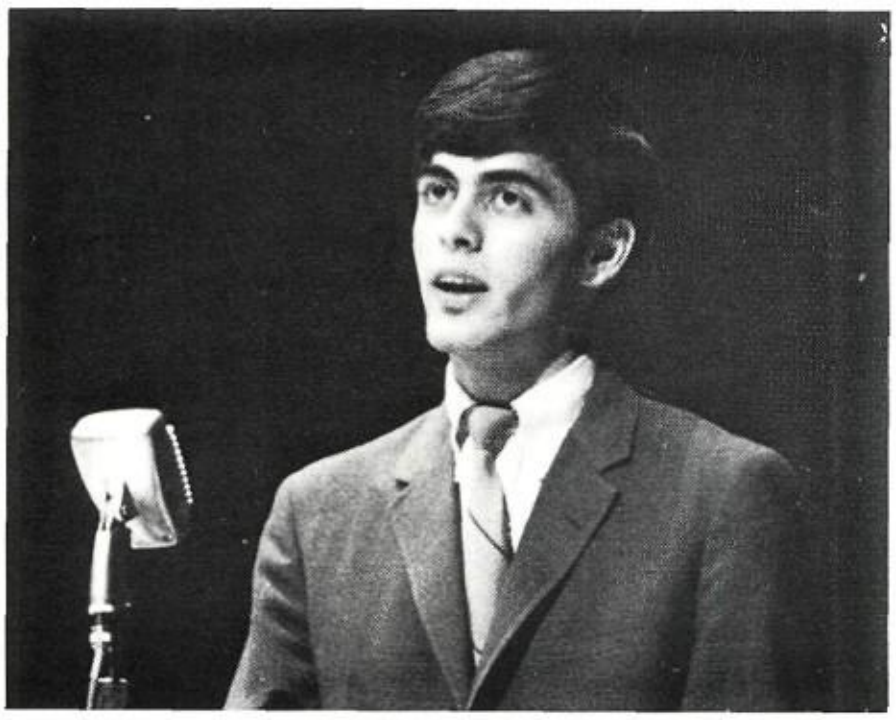
Combining enthusiasm and intelligence, Julie Cox led many aspects of high school life. She served on sophomore student council and on All-City Student Council as secretary. She was elected a varsity cheerleader for two years and was chosen head her senior year. Julie was a member of Pep Club, and she served on the morale, records, publicity, and treasury committees.

Academically, Julie kept a competitive pace. She was a member of National Honor Society and was elected vice-president as a senior. She received a nomination for the National Council of Teachers of English Award and was a National Merit Scholarship semi-finalist.

Julie worked as copy editor for the "Apogee" and became a member of Quill and Scroll as a senior. She represented Mitchell as an exchange student to Rancho High School in Las Vegas, Nevada, and to Palmer during an All-City Exchange program. Julie also served on the steering committee for the Inter-school Relations Council.

Mitchell faculty members nominated Julie for Outstanding Teenagers of America as well as "Who's Who in American High Schools." She earned the award, Marauder of the Month, and was a Christmas Queen Attendant in 1968.

Julie plans to attend college to study social science and English, and her future might include a career in sociology.



Serving as president of the student body, Jerry Aluise provided an example of leadership for Mitchell High School. As president, his duties included presiding over Cabinet meetings and acting as general chairman of many assemblies.

During Jerry's junior year, he was elected to first and second semester student council. Along with many other activities, Jerry was an active member of both the morale and treasury committees. He also spent much of his time working on the school newspaper, the "Echelon," on which he served as co-editor.

Jerry was listed in "Who's Who in American High Schools" and was elected to Boys' State. His future plans include attending college where he plans to study business management and French.

Jerry Aluise

Elaine Earnest

Using her outstanding leadership abilities, Elaine Earnest contributed much to Marauder spirit. Elaine represented her fellow students by serving on sophomore student council. She was an active member of Pep Club and Spanish Club, and she worked on the morale, records, and social committees.

Elaine was selected to participate in an exchange program with Salt Lake City. In her junior year she attended the National Association of Student Councils Conference in Philadelphia.

In both her junior and senior years Elaine boosted school spirit by serving as an A-squad cheerleader. She was chosen to be in National Honor Society, and she participated in the girls' advanced gym class.

For her hard work, Elaine was named Outstanding Teenager of America for Mitchell, listed in "Who's Who in American High Schools," received the D.A.R. Good Citizenship Award, and received membership in Quill and Scroll. She was also chosen to be a Christmas Queen Attendant and a member of Prom Court.

Many hours of Elaine's time were spent as the editor of the "Apogee". Her future plans are to major in journalism at the University of Colorado and eventually work in some field of magazine layout and photography.

Ed Bishop made indispensable contributions to the sports aspect of school life during his high school years. As Secretary of Morale, he helped to correlate the sports functions with student spirit by heading morale committee and planning pep assemblies.

As a two year member of the football team, Ed received honorable mention on the All-City team and All-SCL team in his junior year. As senior co-captain, he helped to spark the football team to a winning season.

Again, as a senior, Ed gained All-City and second team All-SCL honors, as well as being chosen to play in the All-State football game held annually in Pueblo.

Wrestling occupied a majority of Ed's time during the winter sports seasons. Displaying a winning style, he earned a third place in the state tournament as a junior. In his senior year Ed took first place in the district wrestling tournament held at Mitchell.

In addition to his first place, he was elected by the coaches at the tournament as the Most Outstanding Wrestler.

During the spring months Ed participated in track as a shot-putter. He was chosen to be a member of Prom Court. Ed's immediate plans include college.

Ed Bishop

Ron Haines

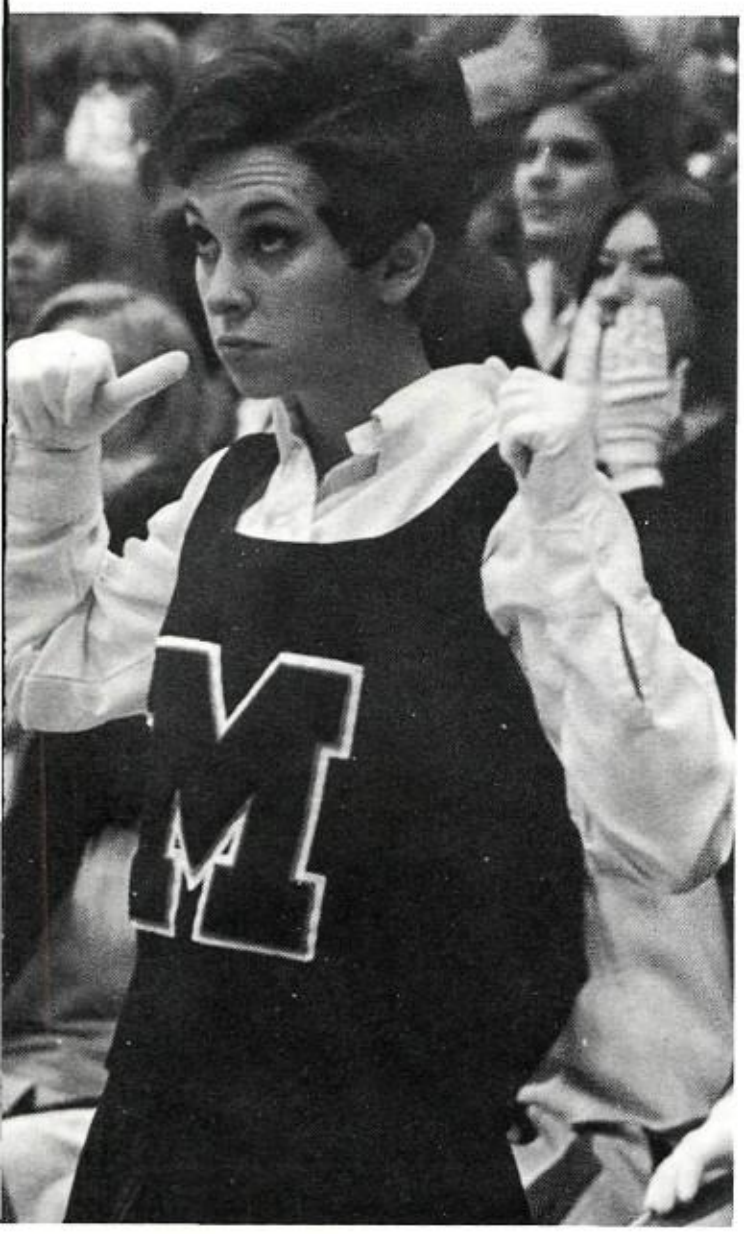
In three years of attendance at Mitchell Ron Haines kept up an active pace. He played junior varsity football his sophomore year and varsity football his junior and senior years. As a junior he was named to the All-City defensive team. Ron then served as co-captain and quarterback of the football team his senior year and was named to the second offensive conference team and the first offensive All-City squad. He was also named Player-of-the-Year by the "Gazette-Telegraph" and KRDO Radio.

Ron played junior varsity basketball in his sophomore and junior years and saw varsity action as a senior.

Varsity baseball was Ron's spring sport for all three years. As a junior he played on the All-City and All-Conference teams. Because of his involvement in sports, Ron was an active member of Mitchell's M-Club.

In the spring of his senior year Ron was a member of Prom Court. His future plans include attending college to study architecture.



Maintaining the role of leadership throughout her three years at Mitchell, Marcia Blakemore was continually active. Marcia served in her sophomore year as a B-squad cheerleader and as a junior and senior on the A-squad. Her interest in promoting school spirit was seen in her support of Pep Club and the morale, publicity, and social committees.

During her sophomore year Marcia represented her fellow students on student council for two semesters. She also performed in "Thurber Carnival" put on by the Talisman Theater.

Marcia was a member of the "Apogee" staff both as a junior and a senior, becoming features editor as a senior. She participated in the 1968 Homecoming half-time show and the Homecoming show, "The Golden Horseshoe Revue." She was also the director of Sing-Out Colorado Springs.

Because of her scholastic standing and her support for Mitchell, Marcia was named to "Who's Who in American High Schools." She was elected 1968 Christmas Queen, was a member of Prom Court, and belonged to National Honor Society.

Her outside interests included Campaigners, Young Life, and volunteer work at the Rocky Mountain Rehabilitation Center. Marcia plans to study physical therapy at the University of Colorado.

Marcia Blakemore

Beth Taylor

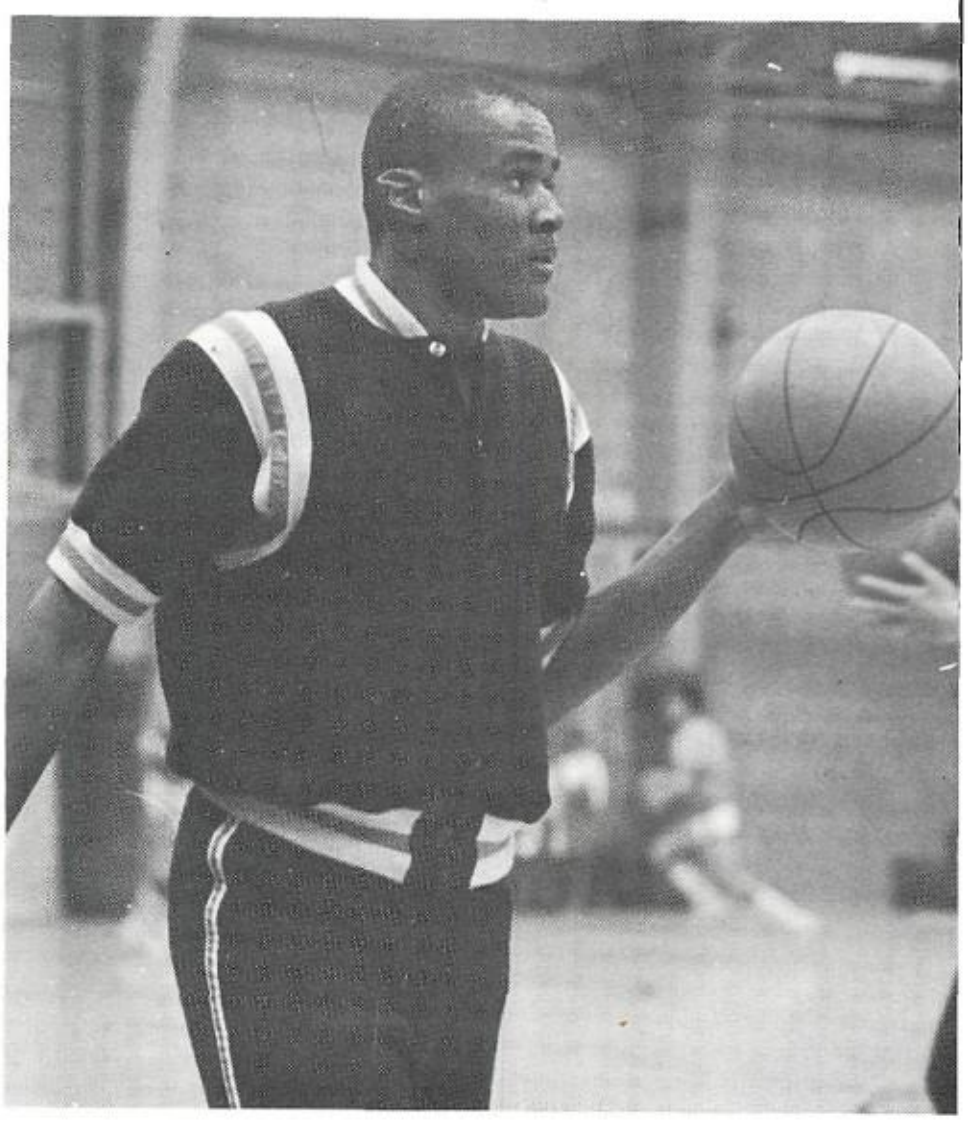
Involvement was the key to Beth Taylor's high school life. As a sophomore she was a courtesy committee member and a sophomore council member. As a B-squad cheerleader she attended all junior varsity sports events and became active in Pep Club.

Beth was an exchange student to Cheyenne Mountain High School in the All-City Exchange program. She was a varsity cheerleader for two years and actively participated in morale committee. Her academic interest was seen in her selection to National Honor Society.

Beth spent much of her senior year preparing for spring competition as a member of the girls' advanced gym class. The "Apogee" was one of her main interests along with Young Life and Campaigners.

In her senior year Beth was elected 1968 Homecoming Queen. She was chosen to appear in "Who's Who in American High Schools" and was also elected to Prom Court. Beth plans to attend college to study education or nursing.



Cullen Bryant was recognized throughout the state of Colorado for his outstanding performance in school sports. He was a member of C-squad football as a freshman, B-squad football as a sophomore, and varsity football as a junior and senior. He participated in junior varsity basketball as a sophomore and in varsity basketball in both his junior and senior years. Cullen's outstanding performance in track placed him on the varsity track team in his sophomore, junior, and senior years.

Cullen, a member of M-Club, is interested not only in sports, but in James Brown, playing the saxaphone, watching television, and the color red. He plans to attend college and become either a professional basketball or professional football player.

Cullen was selected to play on the All-City Football team, the All-Conference Football team, and the All-Star Denver Post team. He was also selected to be in "Who's Who in American High Schools" and was chosen to play on the All-City Basketball team, the All-Conference Basketball team, and the All-Conference Track team.

"Sophomore victory battle cry is Go! Fight! Win!" was often heard from the spirited B-squad cheerleaders this year as they cheered their teams on to victory.

Four sophomore girls and one junior comprised the squad. This year Bev Clarke, Debbie Ferris, Sue Ormand, and Jan Robbins were led by head cheerleader Sandy Stooke.

Ninth grade girls from the area junior highs attended the cheerleader clinics in the spring. They tried out before a panel of judges, and four were selected. The head was chosen from the A-squad finalists.

Beginning with football and ending with the spring sports, the B-squad cheerleaders supported the junior varsity teams and assisted the A-squad cheerleaders in promoting school spirit.

"Paint-in" Challenges Mitchell Artists

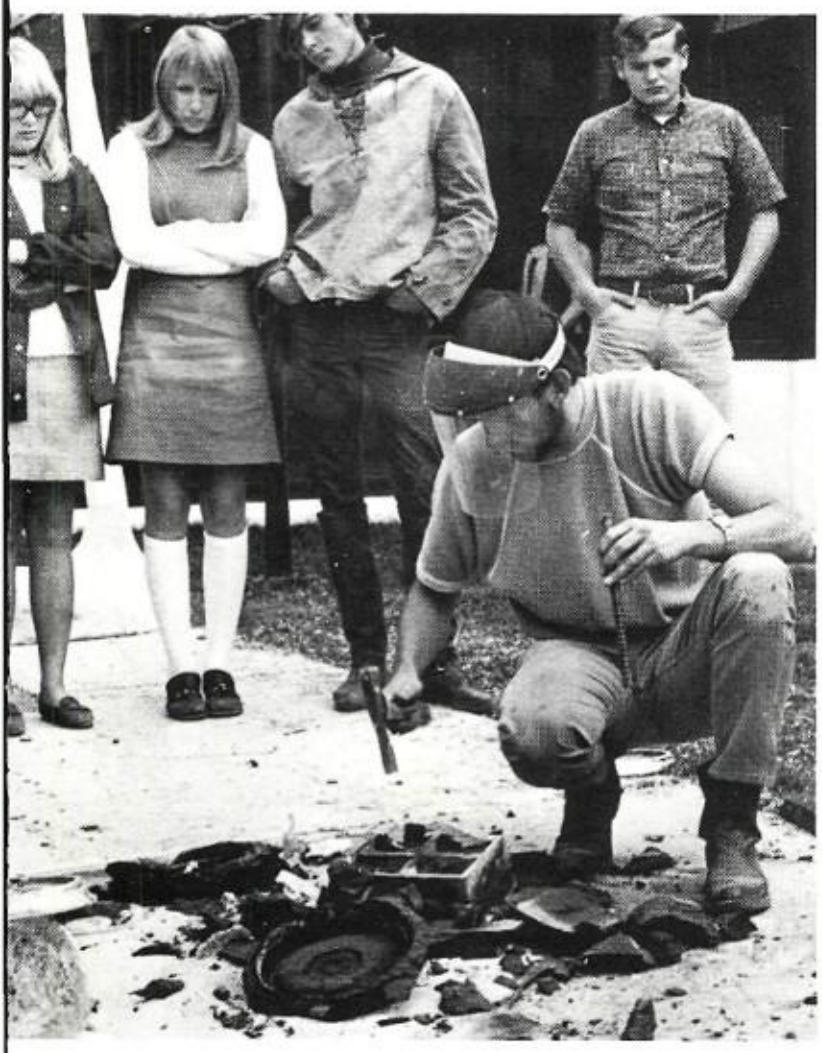
Mr. Harold Hawk, Mr. Jack Frost, and Mr. Robert Shernick combine their talents to give advice to Don Holdman about his geometric painting.



Under watchful eyes, Mr. Dave Cromer chips away a sand mold in the aluminum casting process.

Starting off a busy year for the art department, advanced art students were invited to a "Paint-in" sponsored by the Mountain States Telephone Company. The students spent the day hard at work and produced psychedelic walls to brighten the community.

Aluminum casting was added to the art curriculum. The process was introduced by Professor Joseph Guiliano from Southern Colorado State College through a series of workshops with the actual casting taking place the afternoon of October 23. Mitchell was the only school in the district to learn this process.

During the year area artists were invited by the art department to display their works. Paintings and sculptures were exhibited in the resource center, the library, and the counseling center for the enjoyment of all.

Throughout the year all the art students concentrated on improving their talent and skills under the direction of Mr. Jack Frost, Mr. Robert Shernick, and a student teacher, Mr. Harold Hawk. New techniques were developed and explored in each area of art, setting even higher standards for future classes.

Roger Masters reads the will to the heirs: "I, Cedric Russell, being of sound mind and body . . ."

Set in the Prohibition era, the play "Any Number Can Die," written by Fred Carmichael and directed by Mr. George Raabe, provides an hilarious comical satire of the mystery plays popular during this time. The play takes place at Raven's Head, an old mansion off the Carolina coast.

Four ingenious murders heighten the suspense complicated by the ever-present sliding panel, a robed figure, the cryptic poem, and the will being read at midnight.

Few of the characters in "Any Number Can Die" appear to be who they really are. Hannibal Hix and Agatha play bumbling detectives on their first case. There are a superstitious maid and butler, a lawyer to read the will, has-been millionaires who are the supposed heirs to the fortune, and a young girl, Sally Van Viller, the real heiress.

Linda Libasci was the assistant director. The property crew, which was headed by Peggy McMillen, designed the set, which included sliding panels, false doors, and death traps. James Hoffacker supervised the sound crew, especially important as the sound included lightning and a thunder storm.

Costume crew, led by Candy Ostlin, made the costumes to complement the 1920 time period. The other crews were makeup, Laura Engel; lights, James Hoffacker; and publicity, John Worley.

Band Enrollment Reaches All-Time High

In a spirit of good will and in perfect form, Mitchell's Pep Band marches in the Palmer Homecoming Parade.

This year the enrollment in concert band, under the direction of Mr. Norman Smith, reached an all-time high of one hundred twenty-nine. These students worked hard throughout the school year striving to raise morale and promote good sportsmanship by showing great spirit at all Mitchell games.

Aside from regular classroom work, the band prepared several colorful halftime shows. One of the best was performed during the Homecoming game at which they played songs from Walt Disney shows and made formations to go with them.

In the latter part of the year the band played two concerts with such songs as "The Flea" and themes from "Dr. Zhivago." They also accompanied the student body at basketball games, pep assemblies and hockey matches.

In April they attended the state music contest where they earned an excellent rating. Finally at the end of the year they played a short concert for the senior commencement, at which thirty-eight members of the band graduated.

Music Department Offers Many Talent Opportunities

Mitchell's music department gave the opportunity for students to develop their talents in many areas. In the instrumental music department students could participate in the stage band and the orchestra, join the majorette squad, or become a drum major.

Performing under the direction of Mr. Dean Delaney, the Chamber Orchestra had a busy schedule Concerts were given for the enjoyment of the school throughout the year.

In February the orchestra was invited to an all-city concert at Colorado College. For this concert a nationally known musicologist was the guest conductor.

Breaking tradition, Karen Gidley became the first girl drum major at Mitchell. The other drum major was Dick Armentrout. Together they led the band in the many half-time shows performed during the year. Karen and Dick were also the drum majors for the Pikes Peak Booster Band during the summer.

Head majorette Bobbi Watson and the squad of eight girls also represented Mitchell for the summer band. New uniforms and fire batons added more elements to their half-time routines, putting the final touches to the majorettes' performances.

Representing Mitchell in a local parade, drum majors Karen Gidley and Dick Armentrout lead the band.

Jet,
I've really enjoyed knowing you, I'm so glad you came back. Stay with Dave, he's really a neat guy. Be good & have fun, wherever seems best at the time

Moppet Players Present "THE LAND OF

Mitchell's drama department set a precedent this year by presenting a children's theater production, "The Land of the Dragon" by Madge Miller. The Moppet Players, composed of students from Mitchell and the area junior high and grade schools, were directed by Mr. George Raabe.

Oriental styling characterized the Chinese fantasy. A stage manager was the narrator, and the simple scenery was placed on stage by a property man.

Following a basic Cinderella-like theme, "The Land of the Dragon" featured Jade Pure and Road Wanderer as the heroine and hero. There was also a villain, Covet Spring, and a villainess, Precious Harp.

Mr. Raabe described the play as a school and community endeavor. Mitchell students gained experience in children's theater, and children of the community were given the opportunity to perform.

Linda Libasci and Vicki Bryan were the assistant directors. The stage and property crews, headed by Mark Ewell and Cindy Martin, worked together on the simple stage decorations common to the Chinese theater. Debbie Rogers and Heather Dalgleish led the costume and makeup crews that, with assistance from the mothers of the children, transformed the seventy-five cast members into Chinese.

Supervising the light crew was Dave Thompson, aided by Mike Chisman. Carl Hostetler was the sound technician. Julie Hawkins handled publicity and all Drama I and Drama II students assisted on the various crews.

Soprano soloist Yvonne Miller sings "Balulalow" at the Christmas concert.

Among the choir's many performances at schools, clubs, and churches, a special performance was given by the Madrigals at the Colorado Music Education Association's annual convention at the Broadmoor. This performance was by special invitation from the CMEA.

The officers of the Madrigals Singers were Jack Blaylock, president; Bud Nugent, vice-president; Cindi Minor, secretary and treasurer.

The choir's other performances included such things as radio and TV programs, a program for the Pikes Peak Kiwanis Club, and one at the University of Colorado in Boulder.

Officers of the Concert Choir were Joe Vegh, president; Jack Blaylock, vice-president; Gail Gorst and Phil Marrs, secretaries; Mike McCann and Judy Hinshaw, treasurers.

Many types of songs were used, including spirituals, folk songs, and classical melodies of various periods. These exposed the students to the widest variety of music possible.

In addition to directing the choirs, Mr. Archer Hayes also taught first and second year music theory. These classes go into the formation and use of chords and the actual writing of music.

Highlighting a year of rigorous practice was the annual concert tour. The Concert Choir, composed of the Boys' Choir, Girls' Choir, and the Madrigal Singers travelled by bus on a one-day trip, making a number of stops en route to present their program.

In previous years the choir had performed at various high schools and hospitals. Their final destination is always kept secret by the director, Mr. Archer Hayes, until they actually arrive.

After the morning and afternoon concerts they went to a motel for relaxation such as swimming. That night a special dinner was enjoyed, followed by dancing and impromptu singing and, finally, a return home.

Participation in Fine Arts Areas Brings Satisfaction

Hard work by students showed rewards for those who were willing to put in the effort. Drama, "Empyrean," band ensembles and art were the areas which enjoyed these rewards.

For the District 11 drama competition "The Children's Hour" by Lillian Hellman was performed. The cast of Cathy Hendrickson, Rick Rorke, Anne Majors, Cheryl Hutchinson, and Linda Alldredge represented Mitchell's hope of going on to the state drama competition.

On March 1 solo band ensembles from Mitchell went to the state competition at Widefield High School. From nineteen entries thirteen first places and six second places were captured by the Mitchell students.

Melinda Small and Mike Guy's art work reached the finals in the Scholastic Art Awards in New York City. May-D & F sponsored the regional contest, and for their efforts Margaret Quinn, Ron Huefle, and Randy Bowen received certificates of merit.

Student contributions were published in Mitchell's literary magazine, "The Empyrean." The staff received art and literary works, and the best ones were published in the magazine.

Piloted by John Moulton and bolstered by returning lettermen Rick Finnan, Steve Morgan, and Bud Nugent, the Mitchell netters racked up a 7-3 season. This enabled the Marauders to finish third in the SCL. League-leading Pueblo South's only loss was at the hands of Mitchell.

Mr. Carl Clay, in his second year as tennis coach, saw his Marauders cop fifth place in the district meet at Pueblo. John Moulton (number 1 singles) and Steve Morgan (number 3 singles) qualified for state.

Moulton went on to capture third place in his category, while Morgan fell in the second round to the eventual runner-up. Moulton and Morgan compiled eleven points which placed Mitchell sixth in state. The Marauders' closet SCL rivals were tied for last.

Senior Co-Captain Joe Joyner paces himself in the South Central League Meet.

After experience in the Widefield, Palmer, and Aurora Invitationals, the cross-country team scored Mitchell's initial first-place finish at the Fountain Invitational. Bolstered by this impressive showing, Marauder runners enjoyed their most successful season.

Led by seniors Joe Joyner and Paul Gates, the cross-country team finished fifth in SCL and an improved seventeenth in the state meet. Coach Bill Westbay is looking forward to a strong team next year with juniors Dave Riddle and Mike Melendez returning to the squad.

Outstanding distance runners for the year included Joe Joyner, Paul Gates, Frank Sullivan, Dave Riddle, and Mike Melendez.

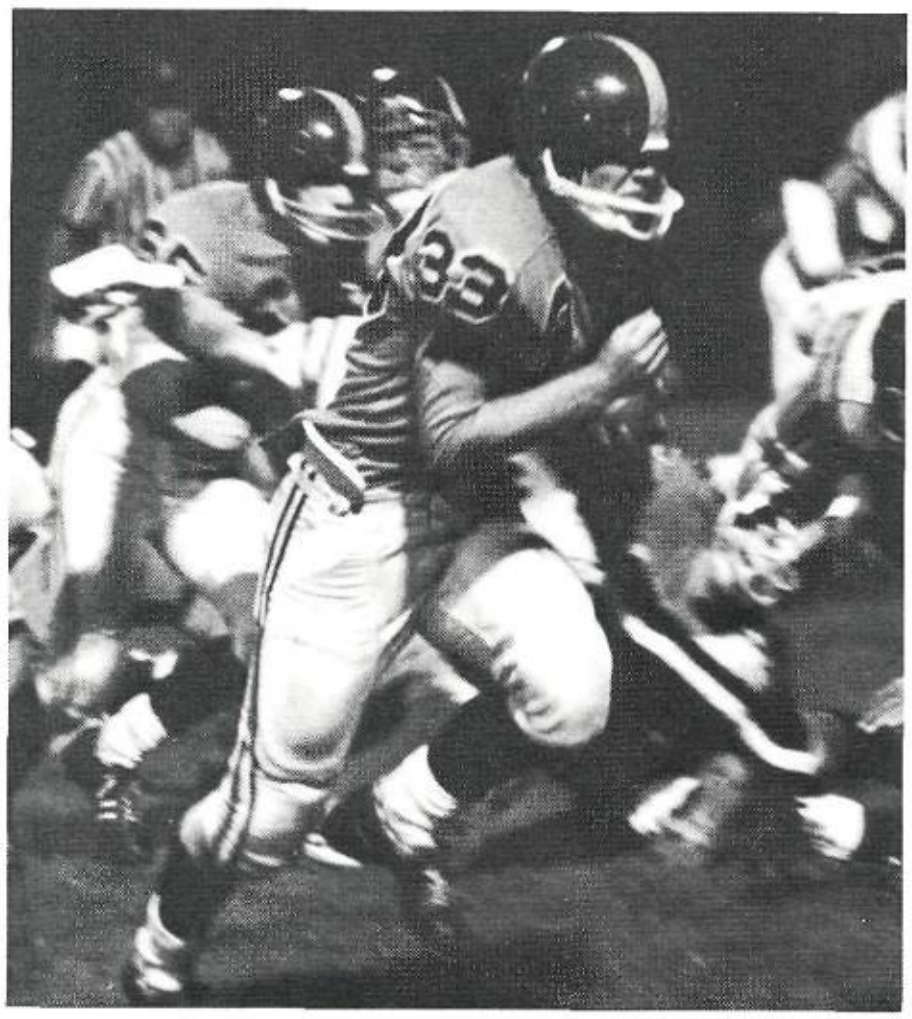
Mitchell's varsity football team of 1968 compiled the best overall record in Marauder history. Led by quarterback Ron Haines, the Marauders were undefeated in league play up to the last game. The loss of the first game to a strong Cherry Creek team was the only blemish on the Mitchell record until they lost to Trinidad and Northglen.

Between these games, the Fliers rolled over every opposing team. The beating of fourth-ranked Fort Collins was the beginning of the climb to the fourth spot among the top ten teams in state.

League play seemed to be a breeze as even cross-town rival Wasson fell with relative ease. Cullen Bryant and Stew McPherson, along with Ron Haines, were distinguished Marauders, as each was awarded player of the week by the "Gazette Telegraph."



Fullback Steve Buss breaks around the end for hard-earned yardage.

Sophomore gridders, under the coaching of Mr. Bob Gill, started the football season slowly with a small and partly inexperienced team. However, it was not long before the B-squad team showed great improvement and, working as a single unit, won four of the last five games.

Coach Gill commented that the future varsity squad had more pride, dedication, and willingness to work than any other sophomore team Mitchell has seen.

Junior Newell Waldron is congratulated by fellow wrestlers after a victory.

Mitchell's 1968-69 wrestling team captured third place in the district meet and qualified five grapplers for competition in the state meet. Ed Bishop, Bruce Clarke, and Bob Sapp received first place in each of their district divisions. Steve Morgan and Gil Garcia placed second in the district meet.

In the state competition the team received eleventh place, which is the highest Mitchell has ever placed in the state meet. At 154 pounds. Ed Bishop received third place for the second time, and Bruce Clarke took third place in the 138-pound class.

In the Cheyenne Mountain Tournament the matmen placed second, and in the Fort Collins competition they took fifth. Built with a core of five returning lettermen, Coach Bill Gordon rated the wrestling team a good one, finishing with a successful 6-4-1 season record. Ed Bishop, who was elected team captain at the end of the season, won more matches than any other Mitchell wrestler in a single season and set several other team records.

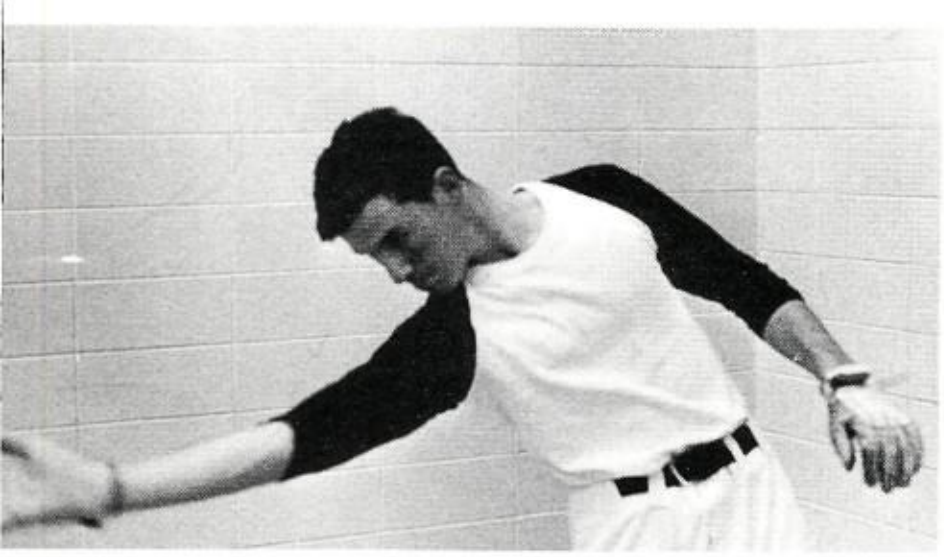
Perry Bean and Larry Graff show determination in a basketball tournament.



Don Andrews, handball champion, vigorously slaps the ball to his opponent.

Under the direction of Mr. Harold Metz, more sports were added to the intramural program. Mr. Metz felt this year's intramural program was the best Mitchell has ever had.

The intramural sports included three-man basketball, speedball, handball, basketball, volleyball, softball, and badminton. The intramural program is an extension of the boy's physical education program and provides an enjoyable form of exercise after school for boys not participating in a varsity sport. This year with as many as seventy boys participating in a single team sport, colorful uniforms and unique team names added to the enthusiasm.

Badminton Champion Ken Estes calmly waits to smash the birdie.

Mitchell Tankers Capture First Conference Title

Building around a young nucleus, Coach Gary Cotton molded a strong conference title-winning team. With only five seniors returning from last year's team, the Marauder tankers became only the second Mitchell team to win a conference title.

The Marauders finished with a 7-3 win-loss record, along with their third place finish in the district.

Defeating both cross-town rivals, Wasson and Palmer, they rounded out a successful season with high hopes of repeating next season.

Janette,

Say don't know what we could have done without you in English this year. We sure had fun even though Miss Broode was mad at us half the time. If it weren't for you lending me all your papers I would have flunked. Have a good summer

Marauders Steve Weatherly and Paul Flehmer prepare to help defenseman Br uce Richardson in advancing the puck against the league-leading Thunderbirds.

Goalie Brian Ryden protects the Mitchell net from a Fountain Valley shot.

Hockey fortunes were dim for the year as the team could not seem to find victory. Coach John Burchell, a science teacher at East Junior High School, guided a young, inexperienced team through a hard-fought season.

One bright spot for the year was the consistently outstanding performance of goalie Brian Ryden. Mitchell's goal keeper led the City Hockey League in saves with 361. Seniors Bruce Richardson, Brian Ryden, and Craig Beeman provided maturity for the team. Next years prospects include Mark Britton, Chris Purdy, Jim Sharkoff, and Steve Weatherly.

Relying on an aggressive defense and a fast-moving offense, the Marauder roundballers, under the guidance of Coach Bill Wright, posted an 8-11 season record and a 7-7 record for S.C.L. competition.

In the first encounter the Marauders fell to non-league Arvada. The next games were in the Colorado Springs Invitational Tournament, where they lost to Manual and Kennedy and beat Denver North.

In the league competition the Marauders started out on the wrong foot, losing to Trinidad and Palmer, but bounced back for victories over Pueblo East, Wasson, and Pueblo South. However, the Marauders once again fell behind, losing to Pueblo Centennial, Pueblo Central, Trinidad, and Palmer.

During the second half of the season, the Marauders were hot, beating Pueblo East, Wasson, Pueblo South, and Pueblo Centennial. In the last regular league game, however, the Marauders fell to Pueblo Central.

At the end of the season the Mitchell team found itself in a tie for fourth in the league, which forced it into a play-off with Pueblo Centennial to determine the fourth team in district competition. The Marauders fell to the Bulldogs, thus ending the season.

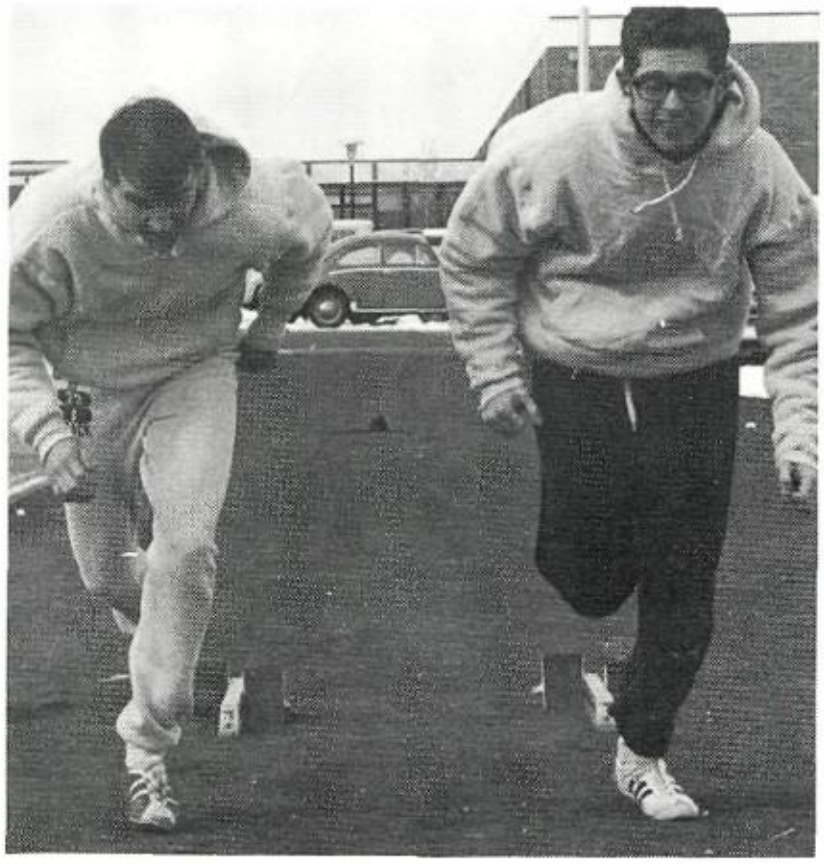
Returning Lettermen Bolster 1969 Mitchell Thinclads

Senior Cullen Bryant grimaces as he stretches for extra feet in the long jump.



Marauder quarter-milers Frank Sullivan and Matt Mauro get a good start.

Under the guidance of Coach Bill Westbay, the Mitchell Thinclads entered the season with high expectations of a successful season. The most promising performer, Cullen Bryant, competed in the sprints, long jump and the triple jump.

Other promising teammates were Ed Bishop in the weights, Matt Mauro in the quarter-mile, Ralph Allen in the hurdles, and Paul Gates, Joe Joyner, and Dave Riddle in the distance races.

Having only seven returning lettermen, the Marauders confronted a lack of depth and balance. However, Coach Bill Westbay expected a better performance from previous years over the fourteen meet slate.

Added Depth Improves Gymnastics Team

Robert Candelaria, Jim Young, Doug Dolan, and Senior Wayne Brown hold handstands on the parallel bars.

Marauder gymnasts relied on added depth in every event to find success in 1969 competition. Meets with teams from around the state provided experience for the district and state meets. The gymnasts, guided by Coach Harold Metz, competed in the state AAU meet in March in which senior Dan Belger took an impressive second in the side horse event. Outstanding performers for the year were Larry Small, Dan Belger, Jim Young, John Ebeling, and Wayne Magninie.

Prepares for Competition

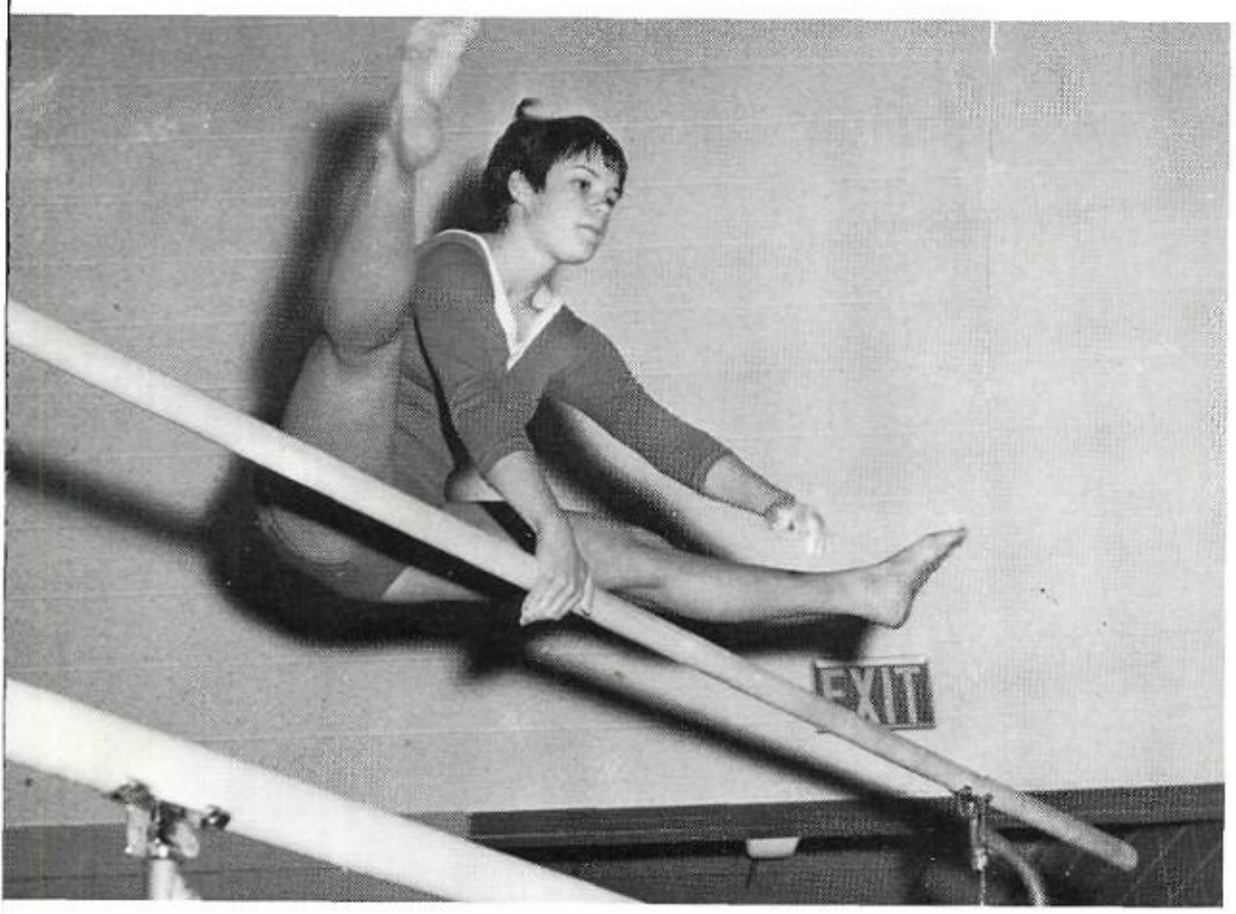
Liz Canfield executes a difficult yogi trick in her free exercise routine.

Primary objectives of the girls' gymnastics team this year were to attain skills and to compete in the interschool meets climaxed by the district and state meets. Through the efforts of Mrs. Charleen Colvin and Mrs. Carol Daniels, the state meet was held at Mitchell for the first time.

Much of the girls' free time was spent working in the gymnasium under the coaching of Mrs. Daniels because of the departure of Mrs. Kerstin Edgar in December.

In the spring the members of the class were chosen on a basis of attitude, ability, and cooperation. The main areas of competition included vaulting on the horse, performing on the balance beam and parallel bars, and creating free exercise routines.



Showing her gymnastic ability, Patty Sarter flies into a jump-back straddle on the parallel bars.

Marauders Capture Second in SCL

ior Gary Flewellen fades back to pull in a long fly ball during practice.

Completing a successful 1968 season, the Mitchell baseball team finished second in S.C.L. competition. Starting the season slowly, the Marauders lost several games by one run. As the season progressed, the team showed great improvement by winning five of their last six games, and they also defeated league titlist Wasson.

Coach Bob Gill expressed feelings that the 1969 team will be made up primarily of juniors. With returning lettermen Ron Haines, Don Struck, Stew McPherson, Don Andrews, and Ray Zaremba, he expects this year's team to be in title contention.

Catcher Marty Nolan practices his hitting for junior varsity competition.

An outstanding contingent of sophomore and junior baseball players pounded out a 15 win, 3 loss record in the 1968 junior varsity competition. The season included games with the Aurora Hinkley J.V., the Fountain Valley and Manitou Springs varsity squads, as well as the city schools. The team concentrated on fundamentals and gained experience for varsity play.

Performances by Doug Harnly, Carl Krug, Steve Weatherly, and Chris Purdy paced the team. Coach Norm Ring expected many of his ballplayers to graduate to varsity competition in 1969. The '69 season was climaxed by an area Junior Varsity Tournament including WRL and SCL schools.

Patti Blair and John Ebeling discuss the effects of open campus on seniors.

Among the many events of the 1968-69 year was the introduction of a new feature by Cabinet, the Summer Orientation. This program, presented to new students by student leaders, delved into various aspects of student life, such as academics, cheers, Student Organization, modular scheduling, sports, and clubs.

Homecoming was the first big event of the school year. The theme, "A Tribute To A Man—Walt Disney," was chosen by Cabinet. The eleven members were responsible for planning and carrying out the activities. This included building the Cabinet float, "Fantasyland," which, despite the efforts of vandals, won first place.

Cabinet sponsored many other projects and concluded the year with the traditional Insignia Day and dance.

Members of Cabinet were Jerry Aluise, president; Patti Blair, vice president; Pam Sinclair, secretary of records; John Ebeling, secretary of treasury; Patti Peckham, secretary of publicity; Jeni Kirkland, secretary of social activities; Don McNeilley, secretary of assemblies; Ed Bishop, secretary of morale; Anne Hollingsworth, secretary of courtesy; Bruce Clarke, secretary of safety; Jim Waters, chairman of Council; and Mr. Charles M. Gaul, faculty advisor.

Morale and Assemblies Committees

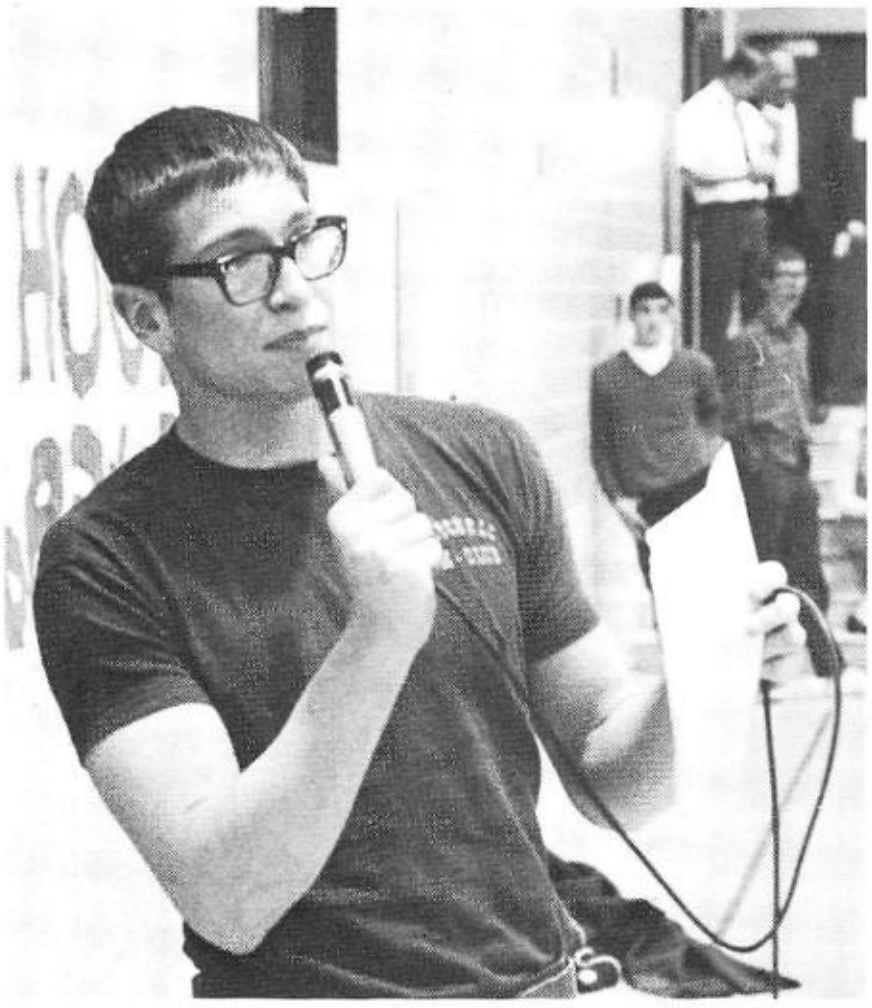
Many assemblies highlighted the year for morale committee members. Each pep assembly included skits, songs, pep talks by the coaches, and cheers. At the Wasson-Mitchell pep assembly, the teaching staff formed its own cheer section, complete with signs, whistles, and cheerleaders.

Major events of the year that came under the direction of morale committee were an outdoor pep assembly at the beginning of the year, numerous Homecoming activities, including the bonfire and bomb hunt, and the Wasson-Mitchell pep assembly.

With the leadership of Ed Bishop and Mrs. Charleen Colvin, morale committee devoted much time and energy to preparing skits for the pep assemblies and promoting school spirit among the student body.

During the Wasson-Mitchell assembly, Ed Bishop introduces another skit.



President of the Senior Class, Don Holdman, lifts the lid off the spirit can while the crowd cheers .

Exchange assemblies were the main concern of the assemblies committee this year. Several assemblies were sent to other city schools, and, in turn, Cheyenne Mountain's Hootenany was presented at Mitchell.

"The Golden Horseshoe Review," the Homecoming talent show was presented at Wasson and Cheyenne Mountain High Schools.

Hard work and imagination on the part of the assemblies committee members resulted in a variety of entertaining assemblies, such as queen presentations, band, and choir concerts.

Secretary of Assemblies Don McNeilley worked closely with assemblies committee members and the faculty advisor, Miss Lynn Johnstone, to present a variety of assemblies to the student body.

Bruce Clarke inspects the safety stickers in the new senior parking lot.

Safety Committee accomplished many things this year. One of the best accomplishments this year was a new senior parking lot. The committee was in charge of the lot and gave the seniors safety stickers to put on the car window. The committee checked these stickers to make sure that only seniors were using their special lot nearest the main building.

Other duties included patroling the cafeteria and the halls. Secretary of Safety, Bruce Clarke, presided over the committee meetings which mainly concentrated on ideas to keep the cafeteria clean.

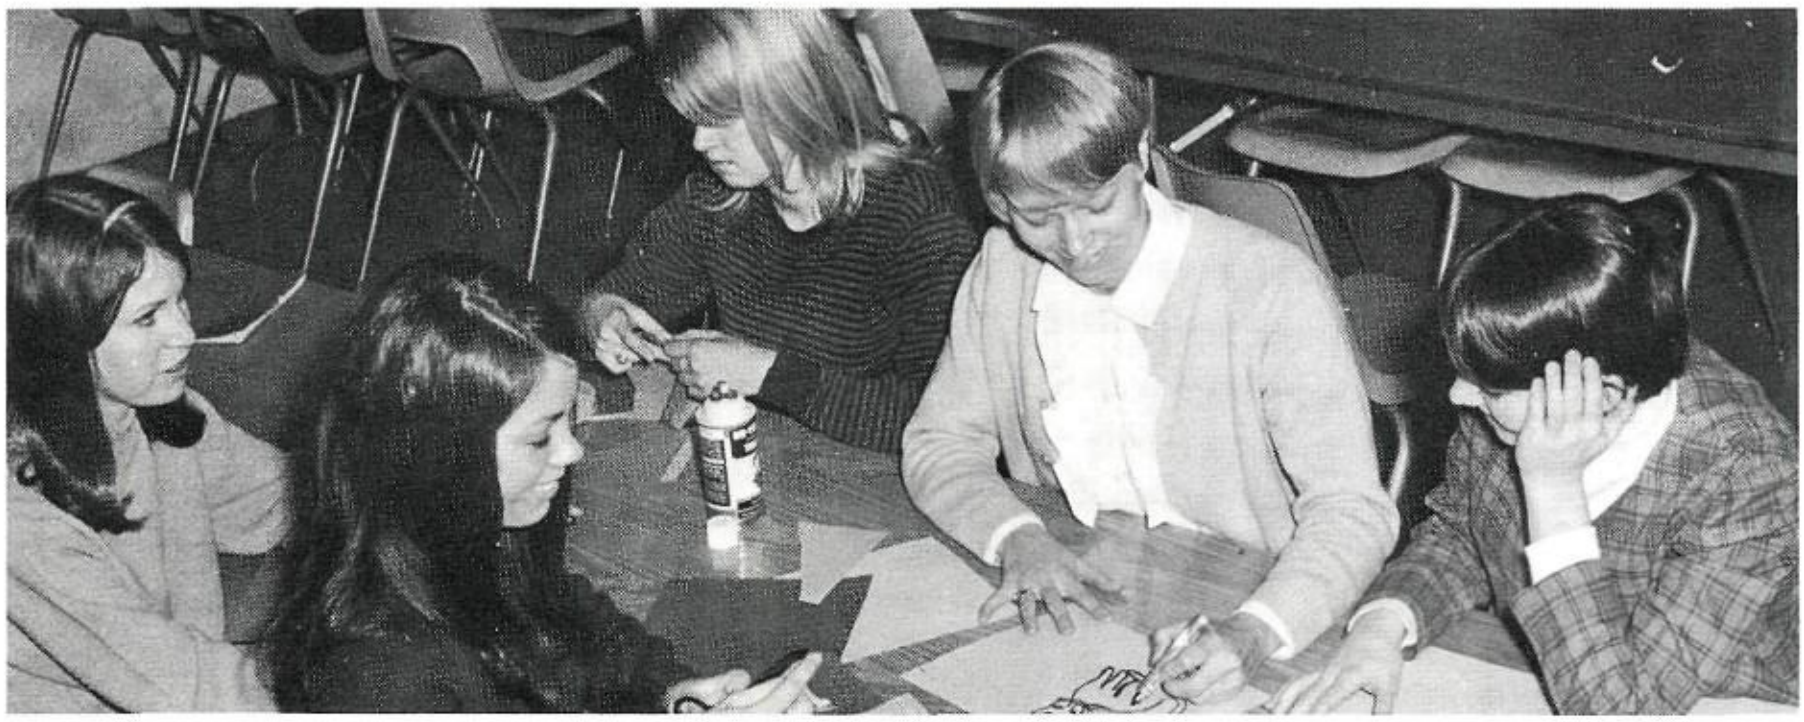
Secretary of Courtesy Anne Hollingsworth explains the committee procedures.

Welcoming the sophomores during Orientation Week began the activities of courtesy committee this year. Other activities included planning the Homecoming Queen reception, giving guided tours, and sending invitations and Christmas cards to the administration and the city student executive board.

Courtesy committee met under the supervision of the Secretary of Courtesy Anne Hollingsworth. Mrs. Julie Toskin, committee sponsor, aided with any complications that arose and checked all the plans made by the group in their meetings.

The committee devoted much of their time to helping perform the duties required. As a result of their hard work compliments were given by the administration, parents, and students from other schools.



Social members, Jeni Kirkland, Debbie Weagel, Terry Havhurst, Susan Todd. and Yvonne Mason meet to make decorations for the Christmas dance.

Publicity and Social Committees Work to Produce

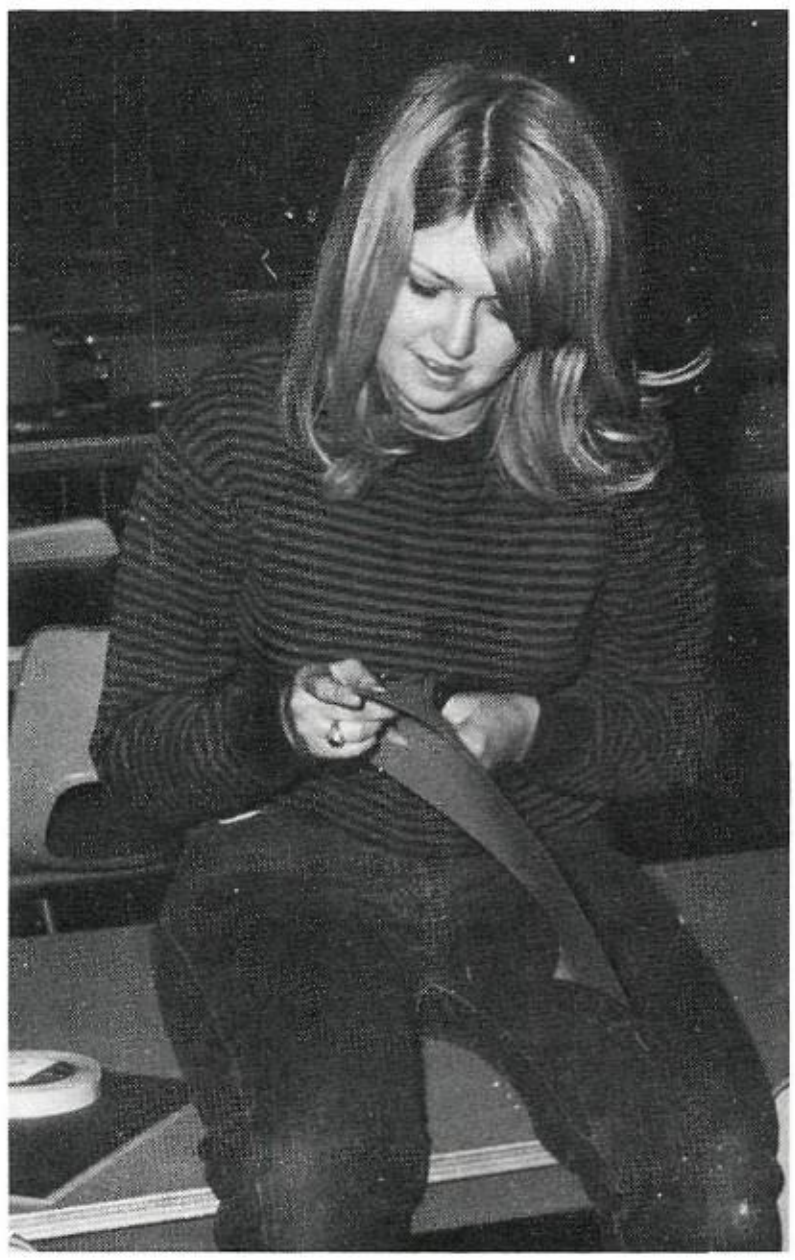
Working together to build attendance at Mitchell dances was a successful undertaking for the 1968 1969 social and publicity committees. It was the responsibility of the publicity committee to advertise all up-coming dances, while the social committee hired the bands and decorated.

Publicity committee advertised all school activities. Under the direction of Mr. Jack Frost and the chairmanship of Patti Peckham, the committee painted signs for athletic matches, social activities, and school programs.

Along with designing signs, the committee was responsible for the morning announcements during A and A, which in the past year underwent an important change. On Tuesdays and Thursdays the individual Cabinet and Council members went to A and A groups to give the student body a chance for communication with student leaders.

Under the leadership of Jeni Kirkland, the social committee weaved a magic spell over the cafeteria in preparation for the main school dances. Long hours were spent by committee members and their supervisors, Miss Jackie Smith and Mr. Arvel Ricketts, decorating on the days of the dances.

In addition to being responsible for decorating for the dances, the committee also obtained such popular bands as the Quorum, the Century Fox, and the Gallery.



Jeni Kirkland, chairman of social, works long hours on decorations.

Patti Peckham, secretary of publicity, paints a spirit sign in a quiet spot.

Exciting Marauder Dances

Diane Konshak and Mary Jo Bradley, active members of social committee, help decorate for the Sweetheart dance.

Pam Sinclair, secretary of records, posts minutes from a Cabinet meeting.

Records Committee Runs Elections

As in past years, records committee was responsible for all elections, including cheerleading, pom pon, queen, Cabinet, and council elections. This year students had a chance to use voting machines for the Cabinet and council elections.

With the help of treasury committee, records committee organized the half-time show at Homecoming.

Secretary of Records Pam Sinclair was also responsible for the recording, typing, and posting of the minutes from all the Cabinet meetings.

Records committee members Lance Wedor, Steve Wheeler, Sue Walker, Pam Sinclair, Joe Vegh, and Donna Fox count ballots to determine who will reign as sweetheart queen.

Treasury Committee Sells Candy in the General Store

John Ebeling, secretary of treasury, opens the store for business.

Under the leadership of John Ebeling and Mr. Charles Gaul, advisor, treasury committee ran the general store next to the auditorium. Many new items were sold this year, including candy and "We're-gonna-win" buttons. Other new items for sale were Mitchell shirts and beef jerkey.

Open in the morning and during the lunch mods, the general store offered students the chance to purchase pens, pencils, paper, and notebooks. Money from these purchases went into the S.O. funds.

Inter-Club Council Contributes to Carnival

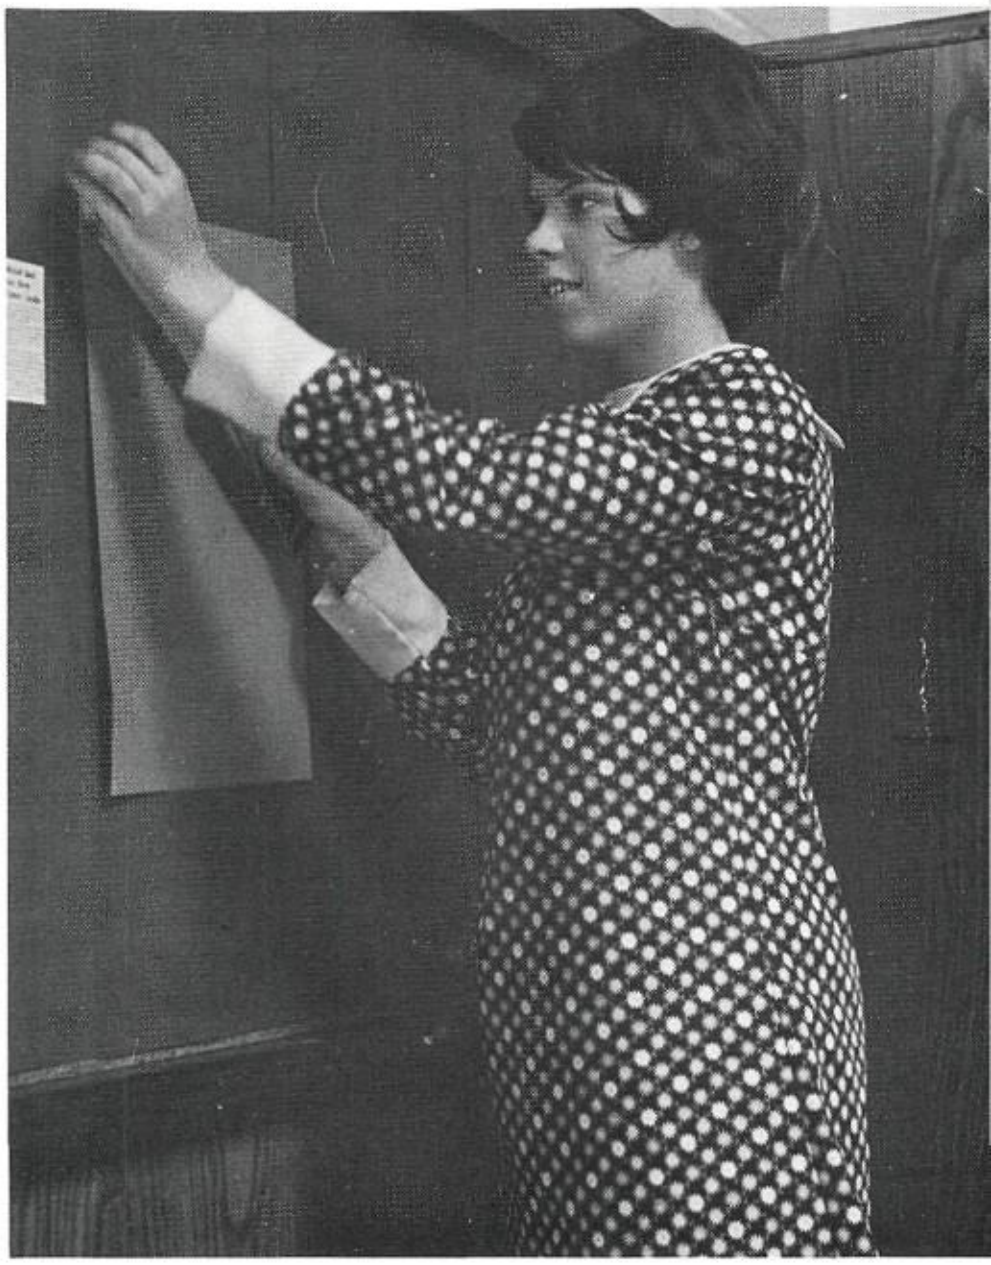
Members were (seated) Linda Davis, Marilyn Mayer, Patti Blair, Marlene Lamb, Charlotte Johnson. Standing are Vicki Haase, David Pickard, Bob Sayers, Aly Colon, Karen Gidley, Marnie Hockman, Nancetta Westcott, Barb Miller.

On March 14, following a tradition established the first year Mitchell opened, the Inter-Club Council organized a breakfast of doughnuts and coffee for Teacher Appreciation Day. They also presented each faculty member with an apple.

For the third year, I.C.C. was responsible for operating the booths at the carnival. Booths selling paper flowers and balloons were among those raising the most money.

Participating in Homecoming for the first time, the clubs paraded around the field during half-time, wearing the papier mache heads of Disney characters they had made. Each club took its turn displaying an interesting exhibit of its activities. For example, the I.R.C. showcase featured its study of India.

Better relations between the clubs and the student organization was achieved by the clubs' help with activities such as Homecoming and the carnival. I.C.C. meetings were under the chairmanship of Patti Blair, student body vice president. Membership in I.C.C. was comprised of representatives from every club chartered by the student organization.



Patti Blair, student body vice president, completes the news bulletin board.

Larry Small, second semester vice president, Don Holdman, second semester president, Doug Forney, first semester vice president, and Perry Bean, first semester president, relax in the senior courtyard.

With the advice of senior class sponsors, Mr. Thomas Hergenreter and Miss Nancy Pardee, the senior council organized the Last Minute Dance, a girl-ask-boy affair held in November to raise money for the student organization funds. One activity sponsored by the council was decorating the building for Christmas. In this class competition event seniors took second place with their reproduction of "How The Grinch Stole Christmas."

Competition points were also gained during Homecoming. For the second consecutive year the class of 1969 located the bomb during the bomb hunt. Points were also accumulated by the senior float, "Frontierland," and in the pyramid-building contest at the Saturday morning activities.

Seniors showed great interest in their student government as evidenced by the large number of seniors running for a position on council.

"Active" Describes Sophomore and Junior Councils

Busy planning for "Carousel 69," are Bob Walton, Penny Long, and cabinet member Anne Hollingsworth.

Active was the word to describe the Sophomore and Junior Councils. For the Sophomore Council the main task was to bring their class together. The Junior Council, which had already achieved this unity, worked to maintain and build class spirit.

Homecoming, Christmas decorations, and class-sponsored dances provided the activity. The junior class walked away with the most class-competition points at Homecoming, and the sophomores worked hard and captured first place for the Christmas decorations using the theme "Santa's Workshop." Each class also sponsored a dance to boost their treasuries.

"Camelot" was chosen by the junior Council for the junior-senior prom theme. Money-raising projects included a pop bottle drive, a soap sale, and a junior class carnival booth.

Unity was achieved by the sophomores, and the juniors kept their spirit strong and growing with each class setting the pace for busier and more exciting futures.

Junior Class leaders were President Dick Gault and Vice Presidents Sheila Wood and Irvin Gambrell.

Awards during 1967-1968

Julie Cox, Beth Taylor, and Marjon Evans review the copy for the "Apogee."

Both the "Apogee" and the "Echelon," the school publications, won awards during the 1967-1968 school year. The National School Yearbook Association gave the 1968 "Apogee" an All-American rating, which is their top award. The "Echelon" received a Certificate of Honor from the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association and the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

In September the "Apogee" staff began preparing the yearbook, using the new style of mosaic layout. Editor Elaine Earnest and the faculty advisor, Miss Roenna Cohen, briefed the staff and work on the theme, "Explo," was under way.

Under the supervision of Mr. Carl Clay, the "Echelon" was published fifteen times during the year. As it was an election year, the newspaper ran a mock poll in October to predict the national results. The paper predictions held true.

Staff members under the direction of Jim Wiant, editor-in-chief, were Jerry Aluise and Cindy Lucas, news co-editors; Don Highsmith, Dayna Ballard, and Martha O'Dell, editorial co-editors; Linda McGill and Marcia Mikkelson, feature co-editors; and Doug Burton, sports editor.

Other staff members included Cindy Lucas, business manager; Rick Buttenwieser, advertising; Dave Pompea, Terry Sell, Lynne Apai, and Ed Pompea, photographers; Marcia Mikkelson, circulation and exchange manager; and Kathie Below, art editor.

Newcomers Participate in Activities

Helping new students become absorbed in school life was the main goal of the Newcomers Club under the sponsorship of Mrs. Marjorie Girard. Some of the members stayed in the club all year, but many dropped out after they became acquainted with school life.

Going to the school's extra-curricular activities together was one of the many goals of the club. The club wanted to keep their members involved.

Many activities were added to the old list of club events. These activities included a picnic in the bluffs, Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners, Christmas caroling at a local hospital, a skating party, a theater party, and a trip to the school planetarium.

Meeting on Tuesday afternoon at three-thirty, the club members tried to plan at least one club outing for each month.

This year the Newcomers Club helped establish the Homecoming theme, A Tribute to the Man, Walt Disney, by making dancing replicas of the three little pigs in papier-mache. They helped entertain during the half-time show of the game.

Club officers were Mike Pritzl, president; Lance Wedor, vice-president; Sandra Lloyd, secretary; Cynthia Lucas, treasurer; and Robert Sayers, I.C.C. representative.

India was the first and main topic for the International Relations Club. Lecturing on India were: Professor Tucker from The Colorado College; Professor Sing from Adams State College; and Miss Winefred Boge, who was previously in the Peace Corps and stationed in India.

On November 15, eleven students along with the sponsors, Mrs. Jane Kurt, Miss Mary Jo Allen, and Mr. Norm Hetland, attended the I.R.C. conference on India at the University of Denver.

Among various other activities, I.R.C. participated in the Model United Nations and a television debate on South Africa.

M-Club Creates Exciting Atmosphere

"We're from Mitchell, couldn't be prouder" chanted by M-Club created an exciting atmosphere at many athletic events this year. In addition to attending games, the group of lettermen planned pep assemblies and sponsored a dance.

Providing a service to their school, M-Club kept an all-night vigil over the Homecoming bonfire. To emphasize spirit, club T-shirts were worn by all members.

For initiation this year the club went to dinner, attended a hockey game, and spent the night in the gym where they underwent an initiation ordeal.

President Jim Waters presided over the meetings and was assisted by Stew McPherson, vice president; Luke Johnson, secretary-treasurer, and Erwin Sonnenberg, I.C.C. representative, and sponsor Mr. Lou Mikkelsen.

Pep Club continued to be one of the largest organizations at Mitchell in the 68-69 school year. The purpose of the club was to support athletic events and promote morale throughout the student body of Mitchell.

During the Homecoming half-time show Pep Club lit candles to form the initials of Walt Disney while the stadium lights were turned off. Later in the year the girls sold Halloween candy for the purpose of raising money for the Kidney Foundation. To earn money for other activities, members washed cars and held bake sales.

The officers were constantly on the move during the football season selling orange balloons to the crowd. The officers were Jan Krug, president; Nancetta Wescott, vice-president; Carol Meyer, secretary; Debbie Jones, treasurer; Denise Zortman, publicity chairman; Sheila Wood, membership chairman; and Donalda Weaver, social chairman.

Miss Marilyn Krienke and Miss Jan Polk were the sponsors of the club. They worked with the officers in a successful campaign for promoting enthusiastic spirit to let the teams know Pep Club was behind them.

St. Francis Hospital Tour Marks Pre-Med Club Year

Knowledge of a variety of medical professions was the object of one of Pre-Med Club's interesting programs, a field trip to St. Francis Hospital. Members were given a tour through the hospital's facilities, followed by a viewing of a film about medical careers.

Some specific information on specialized aspects of medicine was received. Dr. Melvin Pick informed members about the relatively unknown field of anesthesiology. Later, students learned about mental illness and became interested in a plan to aid teenagers reentering society from the Colorado State Hospital.

Guiding Pre-Med Club were Mr. Norman Holmes, sponsor; Lorraine Pick, president; Greg Morris, vice-president; Mary Joe Bradley, secretary; Marsha Eggart, treasurer; and Mary Jo Wallace, publicity.

Working on the display to publicize the club project, Terry Sell poses Cindi Minor for pictures.

Photo club members experimented with a unique service this year. During January the club advertised a portrait and candid service with a display in the cafeteria hall showcase. Gaining experience in the type of work done in commercial studios, club members sold the finished products to their customers. Profits were used instead of dues to pay for a page in the yearbook.

Other special events of the year were two picture-taking field trips, one to the Cheyenne Mountain Zoo, the other to North Cheyenne Canyon. Members gained practical experience in the techniques of photography and development.

Club leadership in 1968-1969 was provided by Mr. Frederick Southern, sponsor; Ed Pompea, president; Terry Sell, vice-president; Laura Engels, secretary-treasurer; and Bill Giese, I.C.C. representative.

Talisman Theater Plans and Presents New Plays

Under the direction of Mr. George Raabe, Mitchell's new drama director, the Talisman Theater, the drama club, presented three major productions. Among the plays presented were the first children's theater play and the first musical.

A new backdrop was designed and painted by drama club, and stagecraft class constructed new flats. Local merchants and school clubs bought ads to help pay for a new "Showbill" for the Talisman Theater.

Many students were busy during the year preparing a cutting from a play "The Children's Hour" for the district contest held on April 19 in Pueblo.

Club officers of Drama Club included Cathy Hendrickson, president; Rick Rorke, vice-president, Linda Libasci, secretary-treasurer; Marilyn Mayer, I.C.C. representative; Martha Kennedy, publicity; and Peggy McMillen, membership. Membership into drama club was based on experience and the number of hours worked. To be an apprentice a student worked four to six hours, journeymen twelve to fifteen hours, and a master twenty hours. When a student worked over sixty hours, he was considered to be a "Thespian." Thespian is the highest level that can be attained by a high school student.

During the year a series of guest speakers and films on topics ranging from education of the handicapped to teaching in college helped members of the Future Teachers of America decide what type of teaching they wanted to go into after graduation from college.

Michael Mullin, president; Marcia Mikkelsen, vice-president; Gina Marques, secretary; Yvonne Miller, treasurer; and Glenda Harris, I.C.C. representative, arranged for the series of speakers and films under the guidance of Mr. Vernon D. Dayhoff, club sponsor.

For the Homecoming parade F.T.A. joined with German Club in presenting the characters from "Alice in Wonderland." Later in the year the club had a booth in the spring carnival.

Chess Club provided Mitchell students with the opportunity to compete against various opponents, including other schools. Early in the year the club lost a match to Cheyenne Mountain, but the players came back to win a four-way meet between Cheyenne, Wasson, Palmer, and Mitchell. Mitchell again found themselves on top in an individual meet with Wasson.

Membership in the club was three times that of last year, and the students expressed a desire to be more active. A constitution was written and ratified, enabling the club to participate in school activities. Members looked forward to having a booth in the spring carnival.

This year the club was under the sponsorship of Mr. Robert King. Officers were Bob Hughs, president; Robb Storm, treasurer; Mike Schmidt, secretary; and Dave Pickard, ICC representative.

Marketing and Distribution

Judi Erickson and George Fagin review the completed advertisement blotter.

Under the supervision of Mr. Thomas Hergenreter, D.E.C.A. members were trained in sales techniques. One project for the year was an advertisement blotter. The students sold ad spaces, planned the ads, and distributed the blotter to motels.

Displays for the large upstairs showcase were also handled by D.E.C.A. Merchants in the Colorado Springs area contributed men's and women's apparel and sporting goods, and the students were graded on how attractively they arranged the display.

Each member of D.E.C.A. had an afternoon job which either he or the teacher had obtained. Each member was also enrolled in the Distributive Education program in which the class studied management, marketing, distribution, and merchandising techniques.

Officers for this year were Steve Marlbrough, president; Hank Darnell, vice president; Kyle Peterson, secretary; Kim Clark, treasurer; and Pam Mooneyham, publicity.

Guest Speakers Highlight Quill and Scroll Initiation

Four noted guest speakers were the highlight of the joint Mitchell, Palmer, and Wasson Quill and Scroll initiation held in Mitchell's Pikes Peak Room in mid-February. Two of the speakers, Mrs. Nell Evans and Mrs. Elizabeth Schaeffer spoke on the various aspects of newspaper and magazine work, while Mr. Kurt Gabel and Major Stewart M. Bachtelle spoke on advertising and public relations.

Mrs. Evans, formerly a "Free Press" proof reader, explained job opportunities open in newspapers for proof readers and free lance writers. Mrs. Schaeffer, local reporter for "Women's Wear Daily," discussed her work as a magazine correspondent and a free lance writer.

Mr. Gabel, owner of the Gabel Advertising Company, stressed the importance of good advertising in newspapers, magazines, and on television. Major Bachtelle, chief of information at the Air Force Academy, explained the necessity of good public relations at the Academy.

Twenty-seven Mitchell seniors and five juniors, chosen from the "Echelon" and "Apogee" staffs, were the new initiates.

In early September members of Mitchell's bookstore, the Paper Key, began working on several basic remodeling changes. The staff members repainted three bookcases in navy blue and white and put up humorous and psychedelic posters to add to the atmosphere of the store.

Two other changes, made after school started, were an enlargement of the bookstore's stock, mostly in the field of political science, and an increased staff membership.

This year's officers were Marlene Lamb, president, Barbara Kenney, vice-president, Barbara Gately, secretary-treasurer, and Connie Campbell, ICC Representative.

Sponsors Miss Marion Reid, Mr. Lawrence Schmitt, Mr. Donald Moore, and Mr. Raymond Calhoun watch with pride as N.H.S. members are installed.

In order to allow the members of National Honor Society to plan more activities for the 1968-1969 school year, sixty-one new seniors and thirty-six juniors were installed in November instead of in April, as had been done in previous years. The group attended a state convention in March. Plans were made to start a tutorial service for students who desire extra help with their studies.

Selected by the faculty, members were chosen for showing qualities of scholarship, service to the school and community, leadership, and character. All one hundred and twenty-six students must maintain a B average.

Serving on the faculty committee were Miss Marion Reid, Mrs. Julie Toskin, Mr. George Dalgleish, Mr. Donald Moore, Mr. Lawrence Schmitt, and Mr. Joseph Watson, with Mr. Raymond Calhoun acting as the chairman. Officers in the honorary society were Jack Blaylock, president; Julie Cox, vice-president; Rhonda Smith, secretary; Virginia Lenz, treasurer; and Charlotte Johnson, I.C.C. representative.

Girls' Athletic Association Hosts Sports' Day

1968-69 was an unusually busy year for the Girls' Athletic Association as they participated in many meets and competitions throughout the year.

During the G.A.A. League Basketball Tournament, which included members from Cheyenne, the Deaf and Blind School, Harrison, Wasson, Widefield, and Woodland Park, the A-league team took third place and the B-league team took second place. Denise Zortman was high-point girl in her league.

Thirty-five active members, under the supervision of Mrs. Emma Best, planned and participated in many other activities, including district and state track meets, a G.A.A. volleyball tournament, a Game Night for parents and faculty, and a Sports' Day featuring competition with other league members in ping pong, badminton, and shuffleboard.

Officers for the 1968-69 year were Jan Krug, president; Barb Miller, vice president; Wanda Schutte, secretary; Kathy Wooten, treasurer; and Mrs. Emma Best, sponsor.

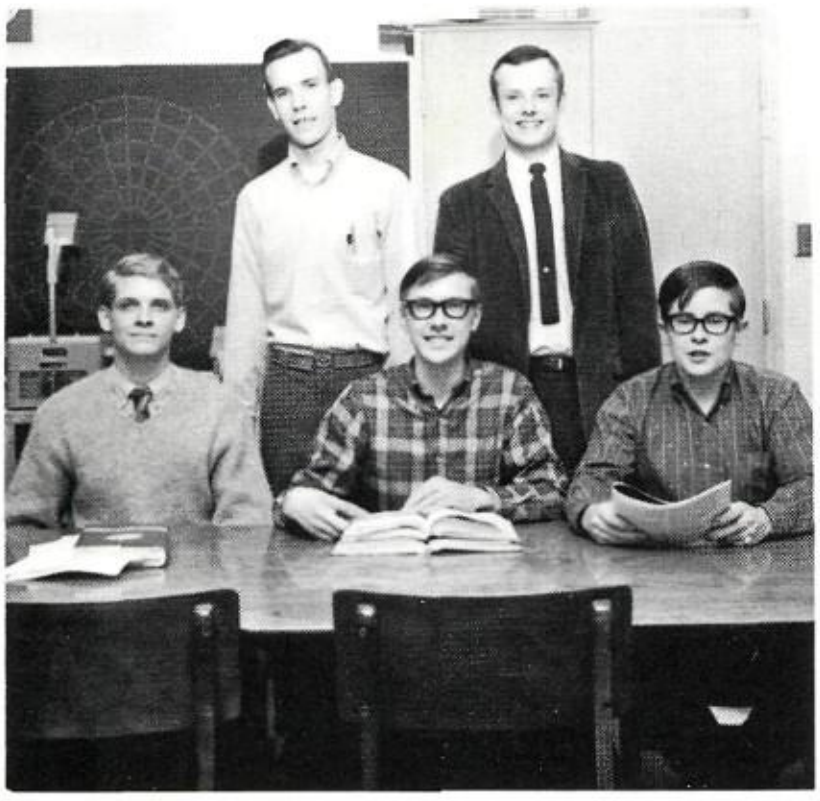
Officers of the Math Club for 1968-69 were Marvin Ebbert, Mr. G. L. Miller, Jack Blaylock, Joe Svancara, and Alan Richardson.



One feature of this year's Math Club was the formation of junior-senior and sophomore math teams. These teams competed with eight different Colorado Springs schools throughout the year, attending one meet each month.

In their first meet, the junior-senior team tied for first place and took sole possession of first place in their third meet.

Besides competitions, Math Club members held regular meetings in which they enjoyed activities including discussion groups, field trips, and math games such as Hex, Nem, and three-dimensional tic-tac-toe.

Officers for 1968-69 were Joe Svancara, president; Alan Richardson, vice president; Jack Blaylock, secretary-treasurer; Marvin Ebbert, ICC representative; and Mr. G. L. Miller, sponsor.

With the help of Mr. Tom Evancich, owner of Classic Bowl, and the leadership of Mr. Ralph Peterson, bowling club sponsor, the bowling club members enjoyed many hours of recreation and fun at the Classic Bowl until the end of the school year.

At the end of the season many trophies were awarded. These included individual trophies to each member of the first, second, and third place teams. Trophies were also given to the individuals who had the high average, high game scratch, high game with handicap, high series scratch, and high series with handicap.

Mitchell's team was one of the leaders of the traveling league, which was a group of bowlers from the different high schools in the area. These teams traveled to the local bowling lanes in competition.

Officers of the bowling club were Bill Fogarasi, president; Don Lewis, vice-president; and Jan Lyons, secretary-treasurer.

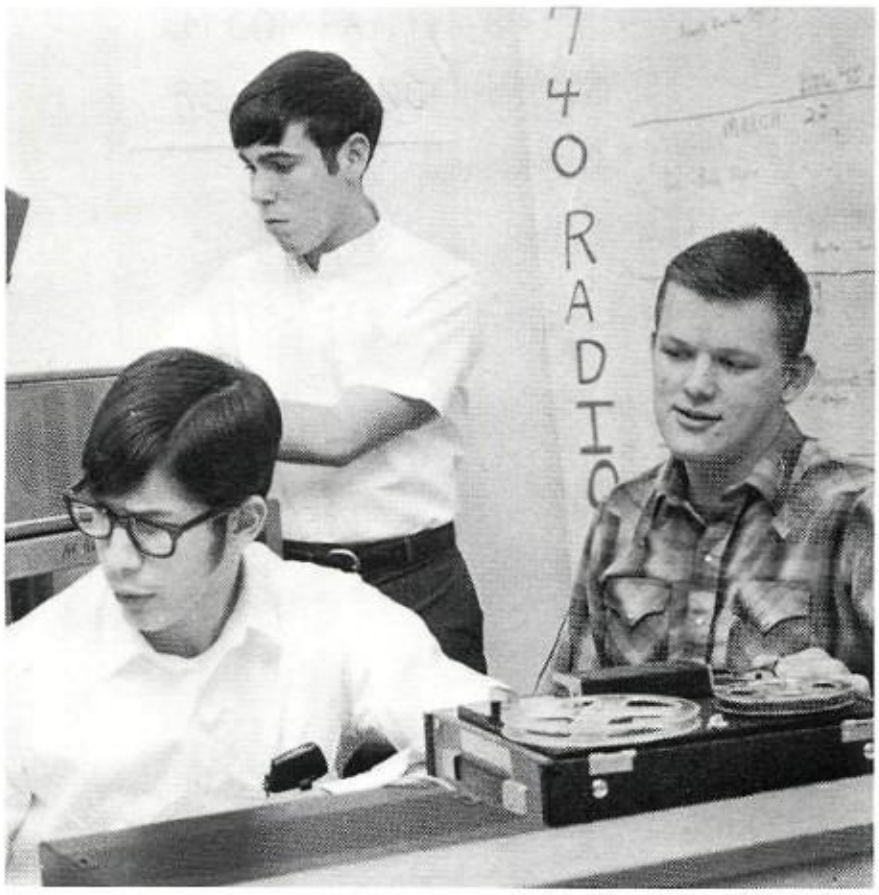
Phil Vaughn, Irv Gross, and Mike Chisman concentrate on recording the news and sports for the 2M Radio Show, which was broadcast Saturdays on KSSS.



Competing in one contest each month, the Speech Club did exceptionally well this year according to the club's advisors. Of the thirty-six entries in the District Speech Meet in February, fourteen qualified for the state meet. Areas included were interpretive reading of poetry, drama, humor, and speeches, original material including orations, extemporaneous speaking, and impromptus, and debate and discussion.

The fourteen qualifiers entered the State Festival, which was held February 28 in Boulder, and the State Tournament March 28 in Littleton.

Another facet of the Speech Club was the 2M radio show sponsored by KSSS. The show was broadcast every Saturday and included original skits, jokes, poetry, and editorials, as well as news and sports.

Members of Speech Club also participated in contests sponsored by local clubs. Craig Archibald, Bob Blosser, and Robb Storm placed in contests sponsored by Optimist Club, Junior Achievement, and V.F.W.

Officers for Speech Club were Jim Wiant, president; Craig Archibald, vice president; Rita McCusker, secretary; Bob Blosser, treasurer; Linda Davis, I.C.C. representative. Mrs. Martha Staudte and Mr. Jack Kistler, served as sponsors.

Spanish Club Plans First Spring Excursion to Mexico

Spanish Club made plans for a nine-day trip to Mexico in the late spring. The purpose of the trip was to help the club understand the people, customs, and the language of the country. This was the first trip of its kind made by the club.

In addition to making this trip, Spanish Club was very active in school projects. The annual booth for the school carnival and the putting up of displays in the halls were just two of the many projects they participated in.

This year the club also had a Christmas party styled after traditional Spanish parties. Numerous guest speakers were present to discuss tradition, problems, and life in Mexico throughout the entire year.

Monthly meetings were held in the afternoon of the first of each month. Presiding at these meetings were Robb Storm, president; Rhonda Hagler, vice-president; Teri Ulrich, treasurer; Robyn Washburn, secretary; and Marnie Hockman, I.C.C. representative. Sponsors attending these meetings were Miss Marion Reid, Mrs. Mary Ann Lane, and Miss Linda Holt. They acted as faculty advisors for the club.

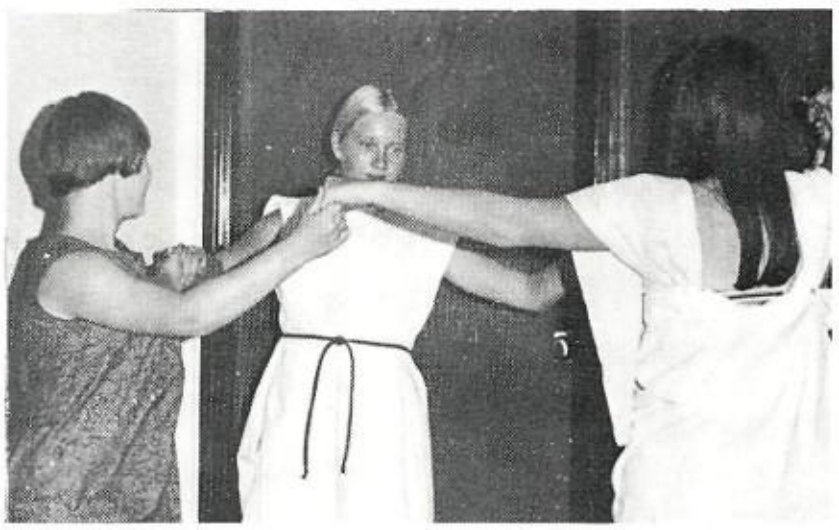
Latin Club Celebrates the Annual Saturnalia Feast

Mrs. Jeanne Bruner, Latin Club sponsor, stops to watch some entertainment.

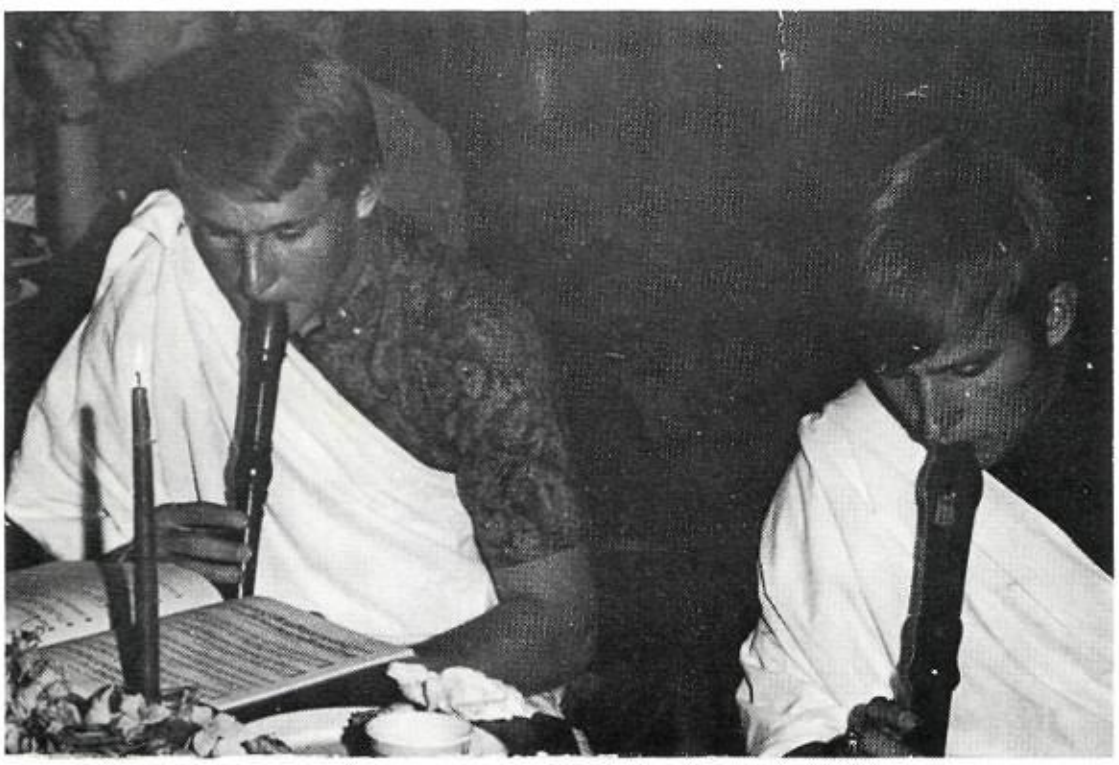
In December Latin Club held their annual Saturnalia banquet. Members added new features to the banquet by eating pizza and exchanging small gifts.

Many meetings were devoted to the initiation of new Junior Classical League members. The Mitchell Latin Club also sponsored the Saturnalia banquet for the Palmer and Wasson Clubs. Members of the group performed a Latin jug dance which was a pantomine of a matron's daily life.

Officers in charge of the festivities were Mike Guy, president; Bob Blosser, treasurer; Vickie Hasse, I.C.C. representative. Mrs. Jeanne Bruner was the sponsor who attended all of the Latin Club meetings.



Some of the girls of Latin Club, clad in togas, entertain the patricians.



Doug Forney and Don McNeilley enhance the Saturnalia by playing the ancient Latin recorder.

If you don't have anywhere to go,

you might not go anywhere.

Whatever you want to do with your life, don't wait till tomorrow to do it. You might just wait around so long that tomorrow never comes.

Size up the opportunities now. If you're going on to college, visit your nearest Timken Company plant—in Canton, Columbus, Bucyrus, New Philadelphia, and Wooster, Ohio, or Colorado Springs, Colorado. Find out what it takes to fit into a job in finance, engineering, sales engineering, production, metallurgy or research.

If you have a brother, sister or friend graduating from college this June, have them write to our Manager of College Relations for a career application blank.

If you're interested in learning a skilled trade, write for our free booklet describing apprentice training programs. For ambitious high school graduates, few companies can equal the challenges we offer. Or the chances for success.

Your future has to start sometime. And the sooner the better.

"IT IS ONLY THE IGNORANT WHO DESPISE EDUCATION."

—PUBLILIUS SYRUS, 42 B. C.

Those words are even more true today than they were 20 centuries ago. As our society grows ever more technological, a solid educational background becomes increasingly important in getting and holding a good job. ■ Colorado Interstate, which works constantly to bring new industry and new prosperity into the Rocky Mountain West, has good reason to know that a high educational standard represents a powerful attraction to incoming businesses. ■ That is why we take this means of drawing to the attention of all teenagers—and their parents—the importance of finishing high school. It is important both to the individual and to this area's future prosperity. ■

Nursing "Explo 69" from its conception hasn't been an easy undertaking. It was temperamental, and, oftentimes, refused to be photographed or written (perhaps because of an aversion to the press).

However, "Explo" succumbed to the fate of publication through the prodigious efforts of the staff, Miss Roenna Cohen, "Apogee" advisor, and Mr. William Holstein, sales representative of the American Yearbook Company.

Also in coalition were Mr. Jack Magnum and Mr. Reeve Boy of Markay Photographers, Mr. Mario Maio of Service Typographers, Stewart's Commercial Photographers, and Mr. Andy Dzurovchin of Andy's Photo Lab.

My sincere thanks go to all of these people for their talent and hard work.

Janette, really You're alot of fun and I have had alot of fun with you. Have a happy summer!
Love,
Debi

Janette,
You're one of the sweetest girls in the junior class. I only wish I would've known you a lot better. Be good to Dale & have fun over the summer. Lotsa Luck
Karen

Janette,
I hope next year we can become friends. One thing about you're always smiling.
Keep it up everybody loves you that way!
Love,
